COOPER MANUALLY GUIDES CAPSULE DOWN ON TARGET

—COMMITTEE VOTES 6-1—

Sunday Closing Sent To Floor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation proposing a statewide Sunday closing law was moved to the floor of the Unicameral Thursday on a 6-1 vote of the Public Health Committee.

The explosive bill, LB710, was first amended to permit "those who conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath" to open their businesses on Sunday if they are closed Saturday.

Two additional amendments were adopted on a 5-1 vote. They would:

—add "foods prepared for immediate consumption" to the list of commodities which may be sold on Sunday.

—allow cities to enact ordinances further restricting retail merchandising on Sunday, but prohibit them from permitting the sale of any commodity not allowed under the state law.

Loosening Spurned

The committee spurned a proposed amendment which would have permitted cities, upon a vote of the people, to loosen restrictions within the state law.

A motion to kill the bill in committee attracted only one vote.

LB710 was introduced by Sens. Maurice Kremer of Aurora and T. C. Reeves of Central City.

It would establish a public policy of providing "a common day of rest and recreation for the people of the State of Nebraska."

The bill would ban Sunday retail sales of a long list of merchandise, including clothing, housewares, furniture, hardware, and most groceries.

Among exempted products are drugs and medicines, dairy and bakery products, fresh fruits and vegetables sold where they are grown, newspapers, tobacco, gasoline and motor fuel, motor vehicle repair items and other emergency repair and replacement parts.

The bill attracted 1,000 persons to a public hearing last month.

DR. S. G. KESSLER

Dr. Kessler Given High Church Job

Des Moines, Iowa—Dr. Silas G. Kessler, minister of Hastings Central Presbyterian Church, has become the first Nebraskan to be elected moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Dr. Kessler was elected late Thursday at the Presbyterian Assembly's meeting in Des Moines. He will now preside over that Assembly.

During the next 12 months Kessler will serve on the key church committees in his capacity as one of the highest Presbyterian Church officials.

Dr. Kessler has been pastor at Hastings for 23 years. He has held a pastorate at Fullerton and is presently moderator of two presbyteries. He is a trustee of Hastings College, a member of its executive committee, and a member of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

He has two children, Mrs. William A. (Eleanor) Wilson of Lincoln, and a son, Stanley, a sophomore at Hastings College.

Park Road Money Booster Advanced

A bill which would increase allocation of state funds for access roads to recreation areas from $10,000 to $30,000 monthly was advanced to the floor of the Legislature Thursday.

Action came on a 6-0 vote of the Public Works Committee.

The measure, LB310, is intended as a backup source for access road funds in the event that LB469 is finally tossed out by the Legislature.

LB469, providing for a 50-cent increase in motor vehicle registration fees for access roads, was killed on a 22-19 vote Thursday.

However, a move was underway to seek legislative reconsideration Friday and revive the bill for further amendments.

Hinges On Fate

LB310 will not actually be reported to the floor until the fate of LB469 is determined.

The bill would also eliminate provisions for county matching funds, but permits matching with available federal funds.

The $30,000 would be allocated from gasoline tax revenue.

LB310 is sponsored by Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln and George Gerdes of Alliance.

Burbach told The Star he would prefer LB469, and was "very disappointed to see it defeated." He will support a motion to revive the measure.

Compromise Try

A compromise move was reportedly underway to propose a $2 registration fee hike with distribution to access roads, the state highway urban fund and to counties for road-building purposes.

Probers May Uncover Foreign Aid Corruption

. . . IRANIAN CLAIMS MISUSE OF FUNDS

Washington (AP)— The Senate Investigations Subcommittee is looking into charges of foreign aid corruption which if borne out "would be one of the biggest scandals in the country's history."

This description was given by a subcommittee member Thursday after Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced he has ordered a preliminary check to determine whether full-scale hearings are warranted.

McClellan said the allegations and supporting documents came from the Khaibar Khan, whom he described as leader of the Bakhtiari Tribe of Iran.

If Corroborated

"These documents, if corroborated, point to gross corruption and misuse of funds in excess of $100 million in connection with the administration of United States aid to Iran," McClellan said in a statement.

The press counselor at the Iranian Embassy, Ali Mohammad Shapurian, denounced McClellan's informant and challenged his story.

Shapurian told a reporter the man's real name is Khaibar Gudarzian, and said he had lost his Iranian citizenship through long residence in the United States. The press aide said the title of Khan, meaning head of a tribe, had been abolished by law in Iran in the 1930s.

Secret Session

McClellan said the Khaibar Khan, as the senator called him, testified at a secret session of the subcommittee, saying he spoke for a group known as the "K. K. United Patriots for Justice."

"During the course of his secret testimony," McClellan said, "the Khan described foreign aid operations in Iran and surrendered to the subcommittee voluminous documents in his possession in full substantiation of the testimony he gave the subcommittee."

Subcommittee members said it was agreed not to discuss details of the allegations, or the names of those accused, until a further check is made on the man's documents.

It was learned that the evidence was offered first to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which normally oversees the foreign aid program, but this group questioned its authenticity.

A committee source told newsmen the foreign relations group was approached some weeks ago "with an offer of documents allegedly showing certain payments to American individuals related to programs In Iran."

The offer was referred to the Justice Department, the source said, but there was no word on the outcome.

A Justice Department spokesman said Khaibar already had been interviewed by department officials before he contacted McClellan about the matter.

Extensively

"We've talked with him extensively on several occasions," the spokesman said.

He added that Khaibar had several documents which he contended supported his allegations but had not yet turned over these documents to department investigators.

'No Discrimination Practiced By State'

GOV. MORRISON ANSWERS SENATORS' RESOLUTION

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

There is no racial discrimination in state employment practices, Gov. Frank Morrison said Thursday when advised a resolution had been introduced in the Legislature urging the governor to eliminate discrimination in state employment—particularly in the State Safety Patrol.

The resolution, LR42, was introduced by Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Sam Klaver of Omaha and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point. Action on the measure was deferred at least one day.

The resolution notes that Morrison has expressed fear that indefinite postponement of a fair employment practices bill, LB347, might be interpreted "as the Legislature favoring racial discrimination."

Bill Revived

The bill, once killed, was revived recently and now is on general file awaiting further disposition after being toned down by amendment.

The resolution urges the governor "to use the influence of his office to eliminate any racial discrimination that exists in state employment practices to the end that the state obtain the most qualified available employes for each position regardless of race, thus setting, through positive action, an example for us as well as for all employers of our state."

It also urges the governor "to terminate the racial discrimination that has always existed in previous administrations in employment practices of the Nebraska Safety Patrol and continued under his administration.

"We don't have segregation in the Safety Patrol," Morrison declared, adding that "nobody in the Legislature or anybody else has come to me to complain about it (racial discrimination)."

No Applications

Morrison said when he became governor he asked Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders why there were no Negro patrolmen.

"Sanders said he was concerned himself and that he would like to have Negro troopers, but that he had never had applications from qualified Negroes for the Patrol," Morrison stated.

The governor said he would like to encourage "qualified Negroes to make application" for the Patrol.

Splashes Within 4 Miles Of Waiting Pick-Up Ship

. . . HIS HEALTH APPEARS EXCELLENT

Aboard U.S.S. Kearsarge (AP)—Gordon Cooper brilliantly overcame an electrical failure Thursday and brought his trusty Faith 7 in after 22 orbits for the most perfect space shot yet.

Cooper was only a minute and a half off schedule when he hit the water at 5:24½ p.m., CST. By 6:11 p.m., he was on this rescue ship, and despite his long ordeal walked briskly across the deck on his own power.

Sailors had nailed down a red canvas so that Cooper would have the next best thing to the red carpet treatment.

"Gordo is in fine shape," his medical experts said.

One Word

As for Gordo himself, his reaction to the cosmos was summed up in a single word:

"Wow!" he said.

President Kennedy was one of the first to get in his congratulations.

"That was a great flight," the President telephoned Cooper. And Kennedy told the U.S. public in a special television talk:

Victories

"Peace has her victories as well as war, and this was one of the victories for the human spirit today."

The President also called Mrs. Trudy Cooper in Houston, and invited the Coopers to the White House Monday.

It was a great night in Tecumseh, Okla. The astronaut's mother, Mrs. Hattie Cooper, had a perfect present for her 63rd birthday.

Agreed

The U.S. Senate finally finding something it could agree on, quickly passed a resolution congratulating Cooper.

As was natural, Cooper was a bit shaky as he climbed backward out of Faith 7's hatch. He was supported under the arms by two physicians.

He waved and smiled, though his face looked drawn.

But shortly after he was taken to sick bay, to undergo the first of his physical checkups, word was relayed that he was joking with the doctors.

He Was Awed

Referring to the U.S. astronauts who preceded him in space and came down awed by sights up there, he said:

"I agree with the other fellows. Wow!"

As for his spaceship, he said:

"Faith 7 did well, I had a few little problems, but nothing major. It's a pilot's airplane. I think the capsule did a good job."

An official said space agency doctors were "very happy" about Cooper's condition.

Only Thing

"The only thing," the official said, "was that he did experience about 15 seconds of being woozy after he stepped out of the capsule. This was normal and expected."

All in all, it was a brilliant journey.

It began at 7:04 a.m. Wednesday, halfway around the world in Cape Canaveral, Fla., and wound up here 34 hours and 20½ minutes later, a 600,000-mile shot that hit smack on the target.

Cooper came down just short of 4 miles from this rescue ship—and jokingly apologized for not getting closer.

Instantly the ship moved up to pick up the astronaut.

Because for most of his flight everything had gone so routinely, the windup had tremendous dramatic wallop.

Forced to come in entirely on manual control, Cooper did a beautiful job.

Tension

As the tension mounted to near the breaking point, he coolly brought Faith 7 in right on the button.

Cooper was guided to his goal by his fellow astronaut, John Glenn, stationed on a tracking ship south of Japan. Cooper fired the braking rockets, that slow down the ship, perfectly.

The conversation between the two space pals was played back through Mercury control headquarters in Cape Canaveral—and they didn't act as if they had a care in the world, or in the outer world.

Verbal Pats

Glenn gave Cooper several verbal pats as he performed his delicate tasks—tasks on which his life depended.

"Real fine play, old Gordo," Glenn said jubilantly at one point. "Beautiful all the way."

And again Glenn said:

"Looks like you were right on the money . . . you've got a good head."

Chuckled

Even though Cooper still wasn't home free at that point, he chuckled.

Cooper decided to stay in his spaceship, where he had spent so many hours, until the carrier picked the little capsule up.

As he came in 1,600 sailors on the 5-acre deck of this ship gave out a mighty whoop.

'Well Done'

Within minutes Cooper received a "well done" phone call from President Kennedy in Washington. Kennedy said he was looking forward to seeing the astronaut in the nation's Capitol on Monday.

The President also spoke with Cooper's wife, Trudy, at the Cooper home in Houston, Tex. A direct line had been set up for the call.

For the last 3 orbits, the tension had mounted steadily.

It was on Cooper's 19th whirl around the earth that Cooper discovered he was in trouble.

Light On

A small green light went on unexpectedly. This light, used in connection with the pull of gravity, is supposed to flash only when the astronaut is coming back into the earth's atmosphere.

From the start Mercury officials fretted that something might be seriously wrong, although, as they pointed out, Faith 7 continued to go its way perfectly.

Then, as the last lap came, it was determined that at least a part of his electrical system was gone.

Carefully Glenn gave him his instructions.

Listened

Worriedly scientists and technicians around the world listened lest something be misunderstood.

Then, just before the time came for the manual firing of rockets, another blow. The whole electrical system was on the blink.

Leroy Gordon Cooper was on his own.

But that's what astronauts are hired out and trained for.

And Cooper, coached by Glenn, was equal to the great occasion.

"That's the old boy," Glenn said, and a world which had so anxiously watched this flight could only echo the sentiments.

Cooper never left anyone in a moment's doubt.

"I'm in fine shape," he said.

And then when the rescuers approached, the 36-year-old Air Force major remembered the etiquette of the Navy.

Tension Eased In Birmingham

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Tension eased in this racially disturbed steel city Thursday. Business life in the downtown district appeared to be returning to normal although there were reports of a white boycott.

A spot check of some of the downtown department stores showed business was running from good to subnormal.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said there were no unusual incidents overnight. Scattered reports of window-smashing and minor scuffles between Negroes and white persons had plagued the city since Sunday when thousands of angry Negroes rioted.

7-Day-A-Week

Moore said his 450-man force is still on a 7-day-a-week basis, but officers were not being held overtime as has been the practice since the riot.

Meanwhile, approximately 3,000 soldiers were poised at two military bases within 100 miles of Birmingham. They were ready to enter the city if President Kennedy decides they are needed to keep order.

Kennedy rushed the troops to Alabama following the riot Sunday. The uprising came after bombs wrecked the home of a Negro integration leader and damaged a motel used by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., as headquarters for the desegregation campaign.

Ten Negroes were fined $100 each and sentenced to 180 days in jail for their part in the riots. City Judge William Conway pronounced the sentences after the rioters were convicted of malicious mischief, assault with a weapon and disorderly conduct.

Convicted were Robert Alexander, 27; Rubin Bell, 31; Randy Goodgame, 24; John Henry Jones, 24; James Ragland, 34; Freddy Lee Salford, 23; Willie Stone, 27; Tommy Jean Benfield, 20; Theodore Turner, 25, and James Smith, 19.

The Rev. A. D. King, brother of Martin King, was scheduled for trial in city court on charges of parading without a permit, the charge used by police in jailing more than 2,400 Negro demonstrators in the month-long desegregation drive.

Bond Posted

In circuit court, $1,000 bond was posted for the King brothers and 9 other Negro ministers who were found in contempt of court for defying a state injunction against racial demonstrations.

The clergymen were to have started serving 5-day jail sentences Thursday, but the convictions were stayed by the Alabama supreme court pending an appeal.

The Negroes protested that the law under which the contempt citation was issued is unconstitutional.

mission to come aboard.

Rarely has any request been more cheerfully granted.

Cooper went through the checklist necessary before the opening of the hatch.

And then the crane picked him from the water and on to the ship.

"Resting comfortably," came the report from the astronaut.

Charred

The space ship was reported to be slightly charred from its fiery return to earth, but it obviously had stood up well under this tremendous test.

Without a slowing down process, the capsule would burst into flames like a meteor.

Came the big moment—the emergence of the astronaut from the space coccoon in which he has nestled.

Its hatch was blown on the Kearsarge's deck.

Poked Out

Cooper's helmeted head was poked out of the hole.

Two space doctors took a quick look-in to see how their famous patient was after such a breath-taking performance.

And there he was.

Although coming in manually is tough, it has been done before.

Scott Carpenter, on his 3-orbit mission, also fired his rockets manually on his flight just a year ago.

Overshot

Because Carpenter fired 3 seconds late, and because his ship was coming in improperly, he overshot his landing mark by 250 miles.

Cooper first realized he was having trouble during his 19th orbit.

The green light came on unexpectedly. This light, which measures the pull of gravity, is supposed to come on as the spaceship re-enters the earth's atmosphere.

"Gordon Cooper has his work cut out for him," Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the space spokesman, said, "but we're confident he will be okay."

He noted that Cooper had performed superbly as a pilot. Certainly, as Cooper's voice came down from the skies, he seemed the most unperturbed of all.

Unchanged

Although this mishap caused great concern among the officials at Mercury control headquarters, Cooper's plans remained unchanged.

Glenn carefully gave him the incredibly detailed instructions.

Again and again Cooper's voice came back unemotionally: "Roger," or, occasionally: "Okay."

If Cooper was showing no emotion, that wasn't at all true of the ground crew, listening intently to the exchange between Glenn on a ship near Japan and Cooper high in the sky.

"The atmosphere here is hushed," Powers said. "Everyone is listening carefully to make sure the information is correct and that the information gets to him."

His Goal

His goal: 22 orbits, a parachute landing 80 miles southeast of Midway Island, and a quick pickup by the rescue carrier Kearsarge.

His schedule: a 5:20 p.m. splash time, 34 hours and 16 minutes after his dramatic blastoff.

Everything was checked out and ready for the big and always tense moment when an astronaut leaves outer space and returns to the earth's atmosphere.

That Cooper! he made the whole thing seem less exciting than the drive he often takes in Cape Canaveral, up busy highways A1A and 401 the 9 miles to now historic Hangar S.

All day Wednesday, all Wednesday night, while the astronaut slept and throughout Thursday, the reports were the same: everything going splendidly.

Optimism

Space spokesman Powers, showed the prevailing optimism during the flight.

"The only thing we can say to describe this pilot is that he is in excellent condition, his attitude is good, he is strong," Powers said at Cape Canaveral. "In my term, Mr. Gordon Cooper is A-OK. The space craft is still performing in almost unbelievable fashion."

It is only two years since Alan B. Shepard, Jr., became this nation's first spaceman. On May 5, 1961, he flew 302 miles.

It is only 7 months since Walter M. Schirra, Jr., set the U.S. record. On Oct. 3, 1962, he flew 6 orbits.

Far in front, of course, are the Russians. Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich went 64 and 48 orbits respectively last August.

But certainly no spaceman could do the chore with less sweat than Cooper, despite the one-day delay due to a balky diesel engine and data computer troubles.

From his 8:04 a.m. blastoff Wednesday—only 4 minutes later than the earliest possible moment—he was in complete control. So relaxed he almost fell asleep during countdown, so unconcerned he napped during his second orbit, so self assured he slept for around 7½ hours during the night.

Got More Rest

Ironically, Cooper got far more rest than most of those anxiously keeping up with his flight at Cape Canveral.

Plans for Cooper's next few days were going ahead steadily: first there were to be two days of note exchanging on the Kearsarge—call debriefing by the spacemen.

The Kearsarge and other ships in the Midway recovery zone were part of a vast force of 28 ships, 125 aircraft and 19,000 men scattered at strategic points around the world. This was in case the astronaut landed at any of several alternate landing spots during his journey.

After the debriefing it's on to Hawaii Saturday and back to Cape Canaveral for a parade and news conference Sunday.

Mrs. Cooper and their teenage daughters will join him in Hawaii.

Among the many things tested by this flight: how much fuel, oxygen and electric power are required? These are called consumables, and Cooper steadily reported he was using these far less rapidly than had been anticipated.

Weightlessness

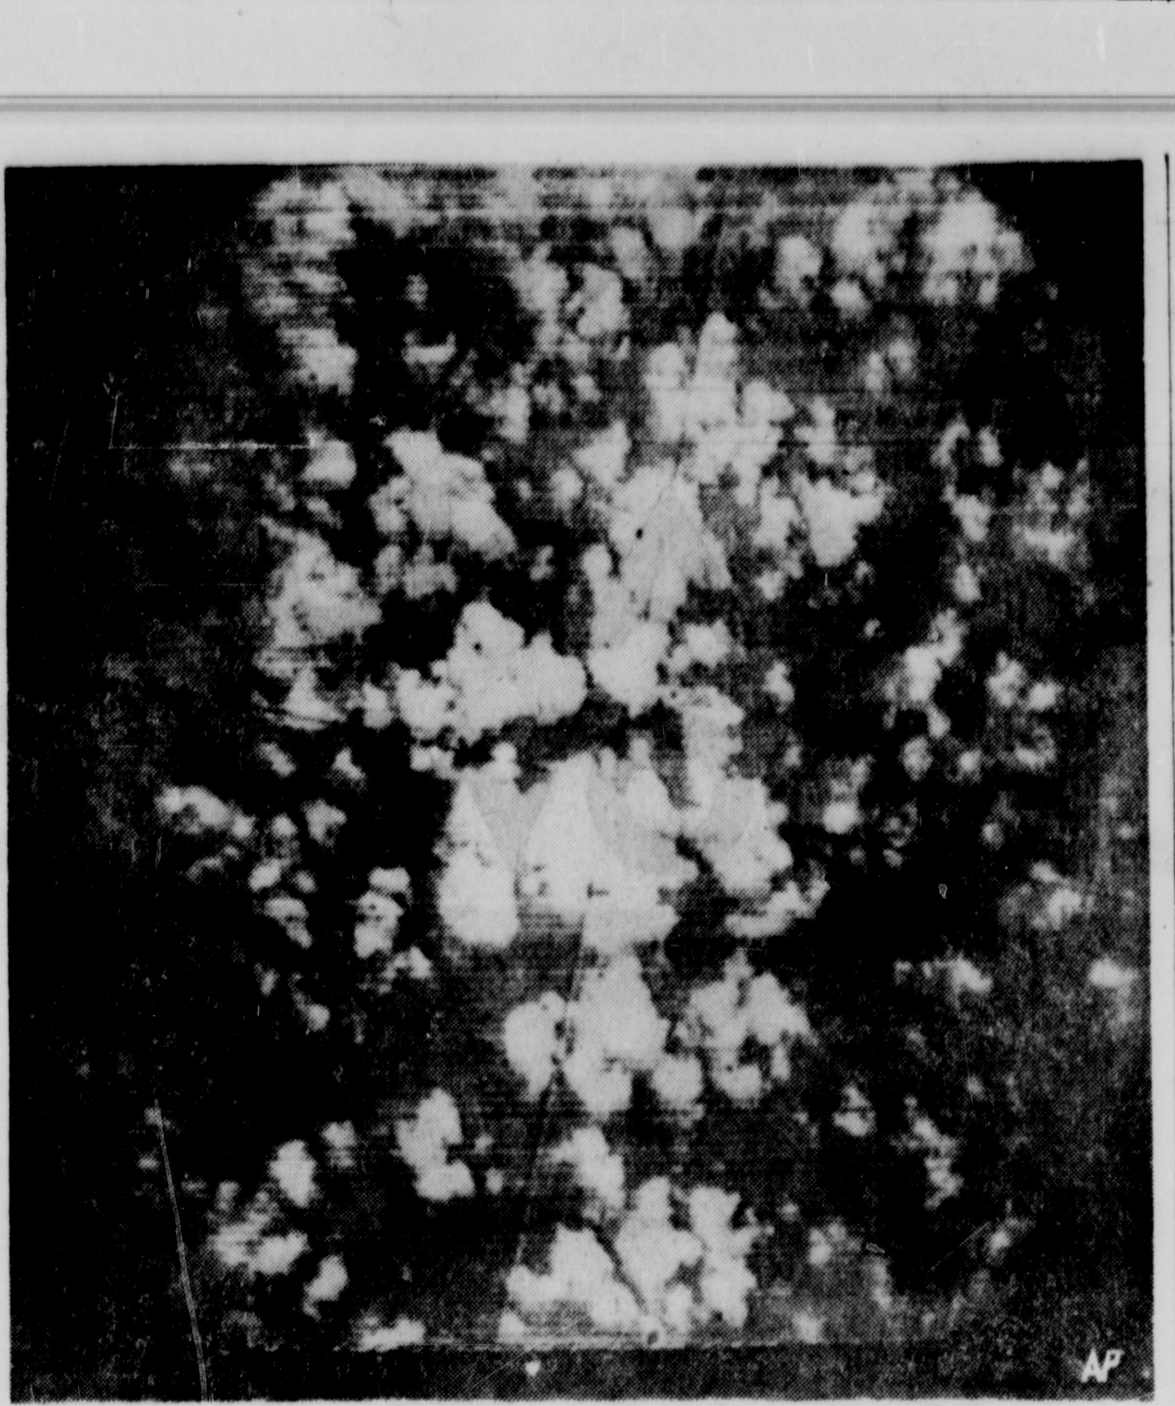
Of even greater importance: how well can man stand long periods of weightlessness?

So throughout the flight data kept rolling in, how fast was his heart beating, how was he breathing, how much oxygen was he using, and, above all, how was he feeling?

All this, and much more, is essential before man can set out for the moon, where the United States hopes to send pioneers in this decade.

Originally it had been planned to wind up the Mercury Project with this flight. Now there's some talk of trying for a 72-hour flight before moving on to the two-man Gemini spacecraft and then the Apollo moon project.

One man who already has said he wants to be a moontraveler: Leroy Gordon Cooper, Jr.



Astronaut Gordon Cooper made this picture of the cloud cover below his space capsule as he passed over Florida on his 18th orbit.

U.N. Copter Forced To Land

Panmunjom, Korea (UPI)—A United Nations command helicopter with two American pilots aboard made a forced emergency landing in Communist North Korean territory early Friday.

Communist troops fired on the helicopter but there was no indication of the fate of the pilots.

The landing was made about an hour before the Military Armistice Commission opened its 168th meeting at this tiny truce village in the heart of the demilitarized zone that separates north and south Korea.

U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior UNC delegation to the armistice commission, immediately informed his Communist counterpart of the incident and demanded immediate return of the aircraft and the pilots.

Cloud said the helicopter was on a "peaceful routine mission" when it was forced to land on the northern side of the Han River Estuary, about 17 miles northwest of Seoul.

The pilots were identified as Army Capt. Ben Weakley Stutts and Capt. Carlton W. Voltz. Their hometown addresses were not available immediately.

Cloud disclosed that the Communists had fired on the aircraft. But he did not say if the pilots were hit.

Said 'Intruded'

The Communist chief delegate said the UNC helicopter had "intruded" into their territory illegally and said North Korean forces took "defensive" action.

The Communist delegate did not mention the fate of the pilots, nor did he indicate whether they would be returned as demanded by the UNC.

UNC officials in Seoul said the helicopter was making a routine check of boundary markers along the southern side of the two and one-half mile wide, 155-miles-long demilitarized zone.

Cooper Trip Hour Over Lindbergh's

New York (AP)— Astronaut Gordon Cooper's 22-orbit space flight was within an hour of the time it took Charles Lindbergh to fly his monoplane to Paris 36 years ago next Monday.

Cooper traveled about 600,000 miles in 34 hours, 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic, 3,610 miles, in 33 hours, 29 minutes and 30 seconds.

CHEMICALS BIG HAZARD

. . . Worse Than Fallout?

Washington (AP) — Man's uncontrolled use of poisonous chemicals, including pesticides, is "potentially a much greater hazard" than radioactive fallout, President Kennedy's chief science adviser told a Senate hearing Thursday.

"I'm not saying it is the situation," Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner added, saying no one really knows the full story of the effects of this pollution.

What is needed, Wiesner told a Senate government operations subcommittee, is coordinated research to get the facts.

Unimportant

"We have to find the effects," he said. "They may be unimportant. On the other hand they may be important."

Wiesner urged that Congress support creation of a large environmental health center to make such studies. He said much can be done under present laws.

The presidential adviser heads a White House Science Advisory Committee which reported that strong and speedy action is urgently needed to assure more judicious use of chemical pesticides. The committee also called for strengthening of federal laws on control of their marketing and use.

Already Requested

Kennedy said he has already requested responsible agencies to implement recommendations in the report, including the drawing up of legislative proposals "which I shall submit to the Congress."

Wiesner was the first witness in the subcommittee's inquiry into the possible need for tighter government controls of "man's contamination of his environment." In addition to pesticides and fallout from nuclear testing, other types of pollution to be studied will include detergents, motor fumes and others.

Wiesner, in reply to questions, said research has indicated that biological effects of fallout from nuclear testing would be very minor. But he said it still has been impossible to make precise calculations.

Small Amounts

In stressing the need for study of the problem of pollution from chemical pesticides, Wiesner said one problem is that they involve "extremely small amounts, often too minute to be measured by any except the most sophisticated instrumentation." Another difficulty, he said, is calculating the effects of exposure to tiny amounts of chemicals for years or even a lifetime.

The study, Wiesner said, should include "a systematic medical observation of those occupationally exposed to higher amounts than the population at large."

He said some research is now taking place to find out the effects on humans when two or more chemicals are absorbed into the body. But it is not yet a "substantial study," Wiesner added.

He stressed that no one is suggesting that use of pesticides be halted.

Senate Approves Feed Grain Bill

Passage Provides Kennedy Major Farm Policy Triumph

Washington (UPI)—The Senate Thursday passed and sent to the White House President Kennedy's feed grain surplus-reduction bill, handing the President a major farm policy triumph.

Passage of the bill activated provisions of an earlier law authorizing wheat growers to plant wheat on feed grain acreage in 1964 and vice versa. This may brighten prospects for approval of the administration's hotly-controversial wheat program in a farmer referendum scheduled May 21.

The vote on final passage was 45 to 35.

Nebraska's Senators Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis, both Republicans, were recorded as voting against the measure.

The feed bill itself extends into 1964-65 an existing program of government payments to farmers who voluntarily restrict their acreage.

President Kennedy hailed Senate passage of the feed grain bill as "an impressive victory" for the American farmer.

He said that Congress "has assured farmers that if they approve the wheat referendum on Tuesday they will be able to plant feed grain on wheat acres or wheat on feed grain acres.

He said in a statement that "the farmers needed his information to vote intelligently."

The program, the President said, gives farmers "freedom to farm at a profit — freedom to plant his allotted acres in accordance with his best judgement — freedom to overplant wheat in good years and underplant in poor years without penalty — and freedom from disasterously low prices."

Final passage of the bill came after Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, who led a futile 4-day fight to amend or defeat the measure, charged sharply it was a "step toward eroding away private freedom of action."

The successful Democratic strategy on the bill called for defeating all amendments to the House-passed version of the measure, so it could be enacted into law well before the May 21 wheat farmer referendum. The Democrats knocked down 16 GOP-sponsored amendments by heavy margins — including one to correct a typographical error —before the Republicans caved in Thursday night and allowed a final vote.

In addition to activating the wheat-for-corn acreage exchange provisions, passage of the feed bill also took it out of the picture as a possible vehicle for attaching new wheat legislation if the proposed Kennedy wheat control plan is beaten.

Critics of the wheat program had been hoping to delay the feed grain bill, then hook a new wheat measure to it.

90-Day Delay Seen In Start Of Big Span

Omaha (AP) — It appeared Thursday there will be a delay of at least 3 months in the expected start of construction on an Interstate Highway bridge over the Missouri River between Omaha and Council Bluffs.

The Nebraska Department of Roads had set July for the awarding of contracts for the substructure of the $6.63 million span.

Deputy State Engineer G. C. Strobel said the latest delaying factors were redesign of ramps at the Omaha end to change the direction of exit, and the need for plans and specifications to be approved by so many agencies.

In all, the final design proposal was distributed Thursday to 9 agencies including the Iowa Highway Commission and the Federal Bureau of Roads.

Summary Of Conditions

The latest map shows a warm front with little movement extending from Tennessee through southern Missouri and southeastern Kansas to a low in central Oklahoma.

The low is expected to move eastward along the front to Tennessee by Friday evening, and the front should move a little more southward during the day Friday.

To our west and northwest there is gradually increasing high pressure which will begin to reflect better weather in the near future.

For Friday skies will be fair to partly cloudy in western Nebraska with considerable cloudiness over eastern Nebraska and western Iowa in the forenoon, but decreasing cloudiness during the afternoon hours with generally warmer temperatures over the area.

It will be mostly fair and cooler Friday night in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. Saturday should be mild over the two-state region with a lot of sunny skies.

A strong ridge of high pressure should be building into Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and western Nebraska by Friday evening.

Capital Punishment Backed By Regular Baptist Churches

Omaha (AP)—The General Association of Regular Baptist Churches was on record Thursday in support of capital punishment.

In a resolution adopted, the group said "we believe that the Bible commits to the state the right and the responsibility to enforce the ultimate penalty."

Capital punishment, it said, is necessary because "a soft attitude toward crime is a weakening of the moral foundations of government."

The church group disapproved "all efforts by ecclesiastical organizations to coerce the state to implement their programs of social reform."

The resolution criticized a report made by a committee on church and state of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. which "encourages the state to use coercive power to establish a welfare state and seeks to reform society by legislative" acts.

An official of a mission group said the aid given by the World Council of Churches to needy areas of the world "is closing the door on old-fashioned missionary opportunity."

The Rev. Bernard Bancroft of Johnson City, N.Y., who was in Omaha to address the convention, said a country which has received aid from the World Council through its relief agency, Church World Service, is more likely to bar missionaries from a church which does not belong to the World Council and does not offer aid.

Stand On Labor Tops Politics, Trainmen Told

Grand Island (AP) — The Nebraska Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will meet next year in Hastings, and according to the union's practice officers for the coming year will be selected from brotherhood members in that city.

The trainmen wound up their convention here Thursday.

The national president, Charles Luna of Cleveland, told the convention that it is "high time labor was looking at candidates on the basis of what they stand for rather than their political affiliation."

"Whether a man is a Democrat or a Republican is of far less importance than his stand on matters affecting labor," Luna declared.

Ribbon Cut For Peru College Library Board Walk

Karolyne Powers of Auburn, the 1963 May Fete queen at Peru State Teachers College, was chosen for the "ribbon" cutting honors at the unofficial "grand opening" of the temporary walkway in front of the College Library at Peru. The board walk, which will carry traffic until the present sidewalk is elevated to the entrance of the newly remodeled library, has been referred to as "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Maintenance employes looking on are, left to right, Ernie Longfellow and Everett Claussen and J. D. Levitt, right, of the Peru State faculty who provided the axe.

Demand For More Edible Beef Gets Attention At Annual NU Feeders Day

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Nebraska cattle breeders and feeders took a close look at the demand for a beef carcass that produces more edible beef at the 1963 Feeders Day activities at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture Thursday.

The marketing system must be critical enough to reflect differences in retail value of carcasses with varying amounts of outside fat to encourage breeders to select for rapid gains, and efficient muscle growth as a part of the cattleman's program, a University of Nebraska researcher told the Feeders Day crowd.

Dr. Lavon J. Sumption, with the College of Agriculture Animal Husbandry Department, estimated that as much as 25% of the weight of overfat carcasses must be trimmed away before they are acceptable to the consumer.

An overflow crowd in the judging pavilion at the ag college were given this advice by Sumption, "In the short run, feeding methods and marketing at lighter weights may be used to hold down fat production, but the long term solution requires the genetic improvement of breeding stock with cattle capable of rapid, efficient muscle growth."

New words and terms geared as tools to producing better beef carcasses were in liberal usage during the Feeders Day program.

Some of the terms were of space age classification for the cattlemen. In the list were palatability committees, denture tenderometer, and christel texturemeter.

The new terms are closely associated with methods of measuring tenderness of beef, Charles H. Adams of the Departmen of Animal Husbandry, explained.

"The future economy of Nebraska depends on the growth and development of our livestock industry because two-thirds of our cash income comes from the sale of livestock," a University of Nebraska staff member declared.

"No matter how much emphasis one may place on other industries, you cannot underestimate the overwhelming importance of the livestock industry in our economy," declared Dr. H. H. Kramer, director of the NU Agricultural Experiment Station.

"If the livestock industry and our economy are to grow and prosper, we must continue a balanced program of research to nourish the needs of the livestock industry."

Protein Studies Fold

Dr. Walter Woods, in discussing protein studies made by the university, emphasized, "It is essential when we evaluate a supplement that we take into consideration the total rather than just the part that protein may supply."

Dr. Robert L. Sweat, NU Department of Veterinary Science, told the feeders and breeders that the area of disease control and prevention is the greatest concern of those in his department.

Dr. Donald C. Clanton of the Animal Husbandry Department reported that alfalfa hay baled at low moisture content was of considerable higher nutritive value.

He said that baling hay at 35% moisture is acceptable but baling at 53% moisture is not acceptable as far as the feed value of alfalfa hay is concerned.

Much of the study on this project has been conducted at the Mead Ordnance Plant, future home for the major portion of the University livestock projects.

Women's Meet Features Lamb

A demonstration, "The Lamb in Your Life," was a feature attraction for the women attending the beef cattle Feeders Day Thursday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Ted Doane, Extension animal husbandry specialist, showed the women how a heavy leg of a lamb was cut into roasts and steaks. He pointed out that lamb, like all meats, is important in the diet. It's an excellent source of protein, iron and the B vitamins, he added.

Katheryn Cooley, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at the university, roasted a leg of lamb in a light colored shiny pan without a cover. She placed the meat, skin down, on a rack in the pan and suggested that if the fat covering is very thin, slices of bacon may be placed over the leg of lamb during the roasting. Oven temperature was 300 degrees and she allowed approximately 30 minutes per pound.

Another Prairie Jewel

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

All that money being spent on a single building is rather a shame, said a friend as he discussed the Sheldon Art Gallery, when there are so many other needs. Why didn't they just have a good gallery but save what money they could for some other worthwhile project? He is right in one thing—the gallery could have been built for a good deal less than it was. In fact, there are very, very few buildings in the nation as expensive by the square foot as this new Nebraska structure.

But he is ever so wrong in his criticism.

No Compromise On Quality

To see the gallery is to wonder how anyone could possibly advocate that anything in it be changed, much less that it be cheapened by any substitutes. You have to see the gallery to really appreciate it, of course, but the next best thing is to hear Mr. Philip Johnson, its architect, speak about the building. Here is one of the foremost architects in the United States, considered by many as the best in this particular field of work, and even his speaking is an art. It is such an art, in fact, that the greatest disappointment of the evening was our failure to be prepared to take down exactly the words he spoke in tribute to the gallery and its patron, Mrs. A. B. Sheldon.

It was the Sheldon family, of course, who provided the funds for the structure. It was this pioneer Nebraska family with its roots in the rural land of the state who provided us with a monument to mankind's finer instincts. One doesn't quite think of rural Nebraska in this way and that, undoubtedly, has been a part of the fascination of this commission for Mr. Johnson.

Finding a creative outlet in the work he has done in the East on five museums and in his current work on the Museum of Modern Art in New York comes as no surprise to him. But here in Nebraska where practicality and hard realism are the marks of history and our current living, Mr. Johnson probably never expected to come across such an opportunity, much less the greatest opportunity of his career.

And as the master he is, he drew not the contrast, but concentrated on the compliment. He believes simply that something wonderful has been created on the University of Nebraska campus and he will never forget Nebraska as a result of it. He believes that there is not a finer gallery throughout the United States and there are an endless number of people, including a great many with the qualifications to say so, who are in wholehearted agreement with him. The work might have been produced anywhere, of course and been the same inspiring experience for him. For it represents a departure from a way of life that cannot be localized. Nebraska has no corner on the materialistic values that motivate so much of our society today.

These are the values which Mr. Johnson spoke about in his tribute to Nebraska's achievement in the form of the Sheldon Art Gallery. Money and the things that it can produce by way of tangible possessions are the limitations with which the artist such as Mr. Johnosn generally has to live. How seldom it is, he noted, that one simply is commissioned to create a thing of beauty, for whatever it might happen to cost. Concern is generally centered in the cost per square foot and then criticism follows because the product makes no lasting impression.

In the Sheldon Art Gallery, Nebraska has given people something for the enrichment of their souls. It has given people something to look at for inspiration, for the sheer sake of beauty, for peace of mind, for the promulgation of values that have their roots in the humanity of mankind.

The gallery is not a reproduction of any period of architecture, but rather, represents the effort of a contemporary artist to give life to the best that is within the present generation. It is a work of art in itself in keeping with and tribute to its purpose—the housing and display of the creations of artists whose tools are canvas and paint.

And when considered in all aspects, it really is not strange at all that this masterpiece of marble and subtle thought was given birth in Nebraska. The average Nebraskan will not even pretend to be a devotee of modern painting or steeped in abstractions or possessed of knowledge of the intricacies of the arts. But he understands compassion, he is moved by grandeur and eloquent simplicity, he is sensitive to creativity and any illusion to the infinity of space is a marvel with which he has lived and learned to love as a natural part of his environment in Nebraska.

The Deeper Meaning

Nebraskans are, in short, very much in tune with that which Mr. Johnson has created in what he admits is the greatest work he has ever done. Not in every specific detail of its construction will it always be appreciated, but it will find companionship in the meaning and the intended inspiration of its many fascinating aspects. Mrs. Sheldon has honored us and Mr. Johnson has given us a magnificent tribute. In our everlasting gratitude and appreciation, we shall not disappoint them.

Whirlwind Sale

Lincoln this week nailed down its newest industry with an unparalleled example of swiftness and team work.

Eight days after a Lincoln industrialist prompted a manufacturing supplier to test expansion here the Northwest Corrugated Box Company, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, announced its decision for immediate construction of a 50,000 square foot Lincoln production division.

Spokesmen for the company told the Lincoln Chamber executive committee that Lincoln's favorable industrial environment and available outlets for the company's products were basic to the decision. But equally impressive were the skills and selling effectiveness of the Lincoln Chamber and industrial development task forces. Northwestern's vice president, Paul Boeye, commented that Lincoln's industrial tracts and program of industry selling equals the best and exceeds the most.

Lincoln is glad to hear that, and equally happy to welcome the new enterprise.

On reflection it was a more significant catch than can be described in terms of floor space, labor demand, and initial investment. A packaging industry is one that serves other industries. When it selects a field it contemplates not only existing markets but anticipated customers. It is evident that Northwestern is convinced that Lincoln's industrial future will be extensive. Obviously it has decided to get in on the ground floor and grow with the field. It is a testimonial of confidence containing the solid ingredient.

After The Junketeers

The House, and we hope the Senate, has reacted to public criticism of junketing and has taken steps to quiet public feeling.

In a bill that passed by a decisive 384 to 2 vote it applied sharp restriction and control covering both spending and traveling. The measure has gone on to the Senate where GOP Leader Dirksen will drive for its passage.

The bill would limit overseas travel to members of committees authorized to go abroad. It provides also for a daily spending ceiling and a detailed accounting within 30 days after the trip. It would batten down one of the most controversial features of travel, namely counterpart funds. This is money of a foreign nation not converted into dollars and brought home. It remains there as a spending fund. Heretofore, it has been handed out on demand to visiting lawmakers, mostly in sums they desire, to be spent according to their desire, presumably to facilitate their official tasks. This would be changed by providing for pre-trip purchase by the Treasury department and the spending then made subject to accounting.

These are solid measures if religiously observed and should be tried.

The public understands that the United States is now a global country. It expects its lawmakers to be informed and realizes that they must travel. It desires that they travel as representatives of a first rate power. It also realizes that a great many congressmen and senators are scrupulously careful. They neither junket nor squander public funds. Some pay their own expenses. Such will not feel the weight of the proposed restrictions, but they will be cast in a better light if the few who are violators are curbed.

Dove Remains Protected

We salute the Legislature for an intelligent decision in the matter of the Mourning Dove. The lawmakers killed a bill which would have killed the dove by placing it on the game bird list for hunters. It is hoped that any effort to resurrect the bill meets an even more resounding defeat than the original vote itself.

Much will be made of claims that the hunters have again been denied a form of recreation to which they are entitled and which could be granted them with no ill effects on the dove population. And the fate of the dove will be pointed to as a harbinger of things to come by way of more controls and limitations for the hunter.

But none of these things is necessarily the case and in some instances the situation could be just the opposite. And none of them takes into account the fact that protection of the dove has a great deal of merit outside the simple question of its preservation. If preservation were all we were concerned with, we could shoot even people without any substantial ill effects.

But there are a great many people who want the dove protected simply because they like the bird and they don't like to see it killed. Where there is so little sport in shooting of the dove, it does not appear unreasonable to honor the feelings of these people.

The hunter has lost ground in the course of time in the avilability of his sport because of his own stupidity and greed. He has been careless and inconsiderate in so many ways that he has turned too many people against him. The fact that it is only a comparative few that have done this is of little significance since the actions of these few reflect upon the many. By recognizing the Mourning Dove as something other than a game bird, the hunters might well gain back a lot of the ill will that has fallen upon them in recent times.

Kennedy, Wallace Political Opposites

WASHINGTON — John F. Kennedy and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama may be in an interesting, if not embarrassing, spot tomorrow (May 18), when the President of the United States visits northern Alabama to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Under well established protocol, the governor of any state is supposed to greet the President of the United States when he visits his state, regardless of any invitation by the President. But no two men could have less in common than Kennedy and Wallace.

One is a Northern Catholic; the other a Southern Protestant. One is a champion of civil rights for the Negro; the other a rootin'-tootin' segregationist. One has been close to the Ku Klux Klan and received Klan support in his election. The other is against everything the Klan stands for.

Finally, the governor of Alabama not only blasted President Kennedy regarding plans to send federal troops into Alabama, but 48 hours earlier had withdrawn Alabama state highway troops from Birmingham just as it became known that the Ku Klux Klan was going to parade in a suburb of Birmingham.

This, of all times, was the moment to have a full police force on hand in and around Birmingham. For there is nothing more likely to touch off rioting against Negroes, and Negro counterattacks, than a public cross-burning by the hated and feared Ku Klux Klan. For years it has struck terror into the hearts of Southern Negroes.

In downtown Birmingham, more than 2,000 Negroes had been arrested on the charge of parading and meeting without a permit when they walked peacefully in anti-segregation protests or knelt in prayer.

Yet when the Klan was scheduled to hold a mass meeting of 2,500 in Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, the governor disbanded his 250-man state highway police force which had been on hand earlier to help arrest 2,000 Negroes.

Haranguing the cross-burners last Saturday night was Grand Dragon Bob Shelton, who has indirectly caused President Kennedy headaches before. Shelton was a subject of Senate debate early in this administration when JFK appointed Charles Meriwether, Alabama director of finance, to be director of the Export-Import Bank in Washington.

Meriwether was not only a friend of Grand Dragon Shelton, but rewarded Shelton with a $1,600,000 state tire contract, given to B. F. Goodrich, which the grand dragon represented at that time. U.S. Royal was the low bidder, but Meriwether gave the contract to the firm which his friend Shelton represented instead.

Civil Rights Looms As Issue In 1964

WASHINGTON — In political terms the Alabama riots have pointed up the civil rights issue which has been relatively quiescent. By a kind of tacit consent both parties have been consenting to a legislative drift on civil rights because both have goals which they feel would be endangered by a genuine partisan struggle.

The President has chosen to substitute executive action because he wants the help of Southern Democrats to enact other parts of his program. Republicans are confident of a southern breakthrough if they can continue to key their appeal to conservative policies while blaming the Democrats — but not too hard — for the present drift.

Birmingham shows the determination of Negroes to press for change in all ways open to them. Perhaps they really do not expect to break up the gentlemen's agreement in Congress, but they are keeping the issue alive in a manner which will compel the national conventions to take notice.

Democrats can be expected to cover the President with extravagant praise for all that he has done, and it is a great deal. Then they will write their usual "strong" plank and hope for the best.

Republicans can anticipate a real argument especially since Sen. Barry Goldwater has come to the fore as the candidate of a South and West coalition. As a person Goldwater has worked for integration; as a politician he believes it is a state, not a federal issue.

In 1960 Goldwater urged a rather tame civil rights plank on the G.O.P. platform drafters which would avoid details and specifics. It would, he argued, carry the South for Richard Nixon. But Nixon yielded to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's insistence on a strong declaration.

Rockefeller will take the same stand next year and the battle will then be joined between him and Goldwater. From such an argument a dark-horse presidential candidate often emerges.

All the indications are that Republicans must cope at their convention with another controversy. It involves the John Birch Society, and it is spared to the Democrats who have no appeal for the Birchers.

Here again Goldwater seems headed for the middle of the fight by his own choice.

Last week Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California attacked the "fright peddlers," specifically denouncing the Birchers. A few days later the Kuchel campaign manager in northern California, Thomas Mellon, and nine colleagues demanded that the Republican state organization cease compromising with the Birchers and all other extreme right-wingers.

This week the Los Angeles Times stated that Goldwater would make "a major pitch" for support of California Republicans at a rally sponsored by the state's Young Republicans. This is the group which earlier this year elected a strongly conservative president backed by the John Birch Society.

The Lyons Mirror-Sun has a miniature Harvey on its hands. A rabbit with both time and courage has struck up a friendship with one of the printers there. Each day the bunny patiently sits for an hour or so outside the office window, observing all the doings inside. Then he hops along his rabbit way.

Harold Hartley, editor of the Grand Island Independent, has a perfectly logical question:

"When you are stiff and sore on the day after playing 27 holes of golf and some basketball with the neighbor kids, in addition to doing some yard work, what is the reason?"

And a perfectly logical answer, at least from his point of view: "The yard work, of course."

And the Garden County News has an explanation of why Oshkosh golfers didn't win more trophies in a recent meet held out that way . . .

"All we can say is that the guys worked so hard and long on the new club house that by the time the tournament rolled around, they were all too pooped to play golf."

Bob Pinkerton, of the Western Nebraska Observer out at Kimball, has discovered a serious matter that exists in all newspaper offices, but he hasn't the faintest idea of whom to alert.

He can't figure out what happens to paper clips.

Everyone has to replenish his supply constantly. No one collects them, the way people do with coins and stamps.

He figures that someone, somewhere "is stockpiling an enormous supply of paper clips!" The Pentagon may be the guilty party, he broods. A chain of bent paper clips would also explain the oversized building required to house the Pentagonese.

Some folks around Berwyn call it a "hill buggy." But most of them, including its creators, refer to it merely as a "whatizit." It even has state officials confused, as far as whether to license or not to license. Ernest Elfgren and his son built the unusual conveyance. It has two rear ends, is equipped with two differentials. The frame is in two parts—the seat, rear wheels and steering mechanism on the rear portion. The transmission and 10-horsepower, air-cooled engine are mounted on the front. The frame is hinged in the middle and the vehicle turns by moving the center pivot section. It is used for many things, chasing coyotes over rough terrain, pulling a manure spreader, and sometimes just for transportation. It was in the latter capacity that its owners were ticketed by a state trooper. The courthouse couldn't furnish a license because it didn't fit any classification it had to go by. The State Department of Motor Vehicles said first it could be titled and registered as a motor vehicle. Then added that if it were similar in any way to a tractor, it need not be titled. The hill buggy is still unlicensed, reports the Custer County Chief, "and still romping around the Berwyn countryside."

Need For Unity

Anselmo, Neb.

We talk a lot about freedom. Do we mean freedom just for ourselves, or for everyone? Some say that a majority should rule. Does this mean throughout the world, or just in our own country or state? Some think each state should rule itself. Should each county and town make its own laws?

Are we confused in our thinking? When we secured our liberty from England, we claimed liberty or death should be the motto. But what consideration did we have for the Indians who possessed this country? After we had established our country and slave traders brought us slaves, we bought them and prospered by their labor. Did we talk of freedom then? Now in some places there are more Negroes than whites. Do we think a majority should rule?

We have upheld the idea that every country should have its freedom, regardless of race, color or any previous condition of servitude. Now we find that some of these countries are not able to have stable governments, with many leaders and military men trying to force their own ideas and authorities on the people. Confusion and war are the result.

Freedom sometimes seems to do away with law. We think we are an intelligent people, but we should try not to make mistakes in our thinking and talking. We need to work together to keep our country strong as a whole, not divided into 50 small, weak countries.

Plugging Democracy

Lake Worth, Fla.

There is a new book entitled, "Coming Explosion In Latin America," by Gerald Clark that ought to arouse these United States into a realization that our form of democracy and exactly how it works are in urgent need of being advertised dramatically in every city, village and countryside throughout all of South America.

The vast majority down there are totally uneducated, work for incredibly small wages and are almost entirely unaware of the United States, our way of life and prosperity of the people. Or what little they do know of us, their misguided minds associate with their rich oppressors, for 2% of the population own 80% of the land.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro is known far and wide across the land. His praises are chanted by little children. He is heralded as a modern, romantic Robin Hood who takes from the arrogant rich for the downtrodden poor. Communist propaganda agents see to that.

So it would seem to be in order to utilize a portion of this nation's industrial zest for television advertising all over Latin America to give the multitudes down there free demonstrations of assorted phases of free democracy in action as it really is, not distorted by Castro's agents.

Park Care

Lincoln, Neb.

The city park department and city schools because of neglect have just reaped a harvest of a most bountiful crop of dandelions.

At no time in many years have our city parks and school grounds appeared in such shabby, unkempt and unsightly condition.

Perhaps our park superintendent has diverted too much of the park funds for development of a new golf course in the Holmes Park area, thus being without funds to apply modern chemicals that will economically and effectively eradicate the weeds and dandelion pests.

In the recent campaign for the office of City Council, the candidates harangued for more parks and playgrounds for recreation. Would it not be more effective to improve and beautify our existing parks and maintain them rather than to prate and prattle?

The home-owners of our beautiful city keep it that way by using knee and elbow grease and expending their sustenance for trees, plants, fertilizer, weed killers, etc. To their dismay and to many, it is disheartening to be imposed upon through the neglect of our park department and school ofifcials whose duty it is to keep their premises free of these infectious pests and in keeping with the home-owners and taxpayers.

Is this expecting too much?

DANDY LION

Editor's Note: Park Department workmen have been greatly hampered in their spraying operations this year by high winds. Few days have offered the opportunity to carry on the task effectively.

Education Committee OK's ETV Bills

Bills to establish a statewide educational television network in Nebraska received 5-2 approval of the Legislature's Education Committee Thursday and were sent to the floor for decision of the Unicameral as a whole.

Also reported out was a controversial measure to provide state financial aid to schools to the tune of an estimated $26 million per biennium. The bill makes no provision for financing, however, and would constitute principally endorsement of the principle of state aid.

The educational television (ETV) network bills, LB666 and LB667, were sponsored by Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Fern Orme of Lincoln and George Gerdes of Alliance.

The proposed network would utilize the state's only present ETV station, the University of Nebraska's KUON-TV, plus 5 other channels—at Alliance, North Platte, Lexington, Bassett and Albion—which the Federal Communications Commission has reserved for ETV.

The bills create an Educational Television Commission to control the network.

The bill providing state aid to schools, LB678, was introduced by Sens. Jerome Warner of Waverly and Clifton Foster of Bradshaw, and was reported out on a 4-2 vote.

In effect, the bill—if financed—would relieve school districts of the need to levy property taxes to raise some $26 million needed each two years, and have the state put up this money.

Also reported out were two amended bills, LB597 and LB261, related to school district reorganization as it affects Class VI districts. The bills were chiefly sponsored by Sen. Dale Erlewine of Grant but because the substance of the bills was materially changed by amendment, the Education Committee took over the bills as sponsor.

LB597 was advanced 4-2; LB261, 5-1.

Essentially, the bills provide that Class VI school districts (rural high school) must go through the same channels and procedures for redistricting as other school districts. The bills also give the districts the option of offering instruction from grades 7 through 12 (junior-senior) or 9 through 12 (senior high school).

Legislature Reverses Itself, OK's Engineer's Pay Hike

Nebraska's Legislature, which spurned Wednesday a proposed salary increase for the state engineer, reversed itself Thursday and okayed the pay boost.

The measure failed on final reading Wednesday on a 20-20 vote, with 22 affirmative votes needed.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha successfully moved Thursday for reconsideration and this time the measure, LB480, sailed through 27-13.

The voting switches apparently were induced by Russillo's explanation that the state engineer's salary does not come from the property tax-supported General Fund but from highway user revenue.

The measure, LB480, introduced by Sens. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper and Cecil Craft of North Platte, would boost the pay of State Engineer John Hossack from $13,500 to $17,000 per year.

Snarl Develops

A snarl developed Thursday over another salary bill, LB741, increasing the salary of the state tax commissioner from $10,000 to $12,500 per year.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, carried the emergency clause and thus needed 29 affirmative votes for passage.

But on final reading, LB741 received a 27-13 vote. On a second test with the emergency clause removed, the measure won 27-14 approval.

Sen. Bowen then pointed out that without the emergency clause, the bill won't take effect until after Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson is reappointed to a new 6-year term next September.

Bowen said if other officials are to get salary raises, the tax commissioner, who is being given increasing responsibilities, deserves the same.

A motion to reconsider the action carried 30-2 but final disposition was deferred until Friday so the technical status of the bill can be determined.

Liquor Licenses

A bill providing for the issuance of alcoholic liquor licenses in existing privately-owned recreation areas was passed 34-9 and sent to the governor.

The measure, LB654, was introduced by Sens. Le Roy Bahensky of St. Paul and Peter Claussen of Leigh.

The legislation was said to be necessary to accommodate plans for the Devils Nest resort in Northeast Nebraska.

Also passed Thursday, 27-12, was LB525, Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's measure increasing the salary of district court reporters from $7,000 to $8,000 per year.

Ambitious Program Is Put Before Canada's Parliament

Ottawa (AP)—Canada's new Liberal government laid before parliament Thursday an ambitious program calling for improved relations abroad, stronger national defenses and sweeping measures to boost the nation's economy.

The program was outlined in a speech from the throne drafted by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's cabinet and read at the ceremonial opening session by Chief Justice Robert Taschereau. He was substituting for ailing Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier.

The speech placed major emphasis on economic expansion, but it ranged over the whole field of urgent problems facing the government.

Whether its proposals will provoke a no confidence vote will not be known until Monday, when opposition leaders deliver their answers in the House of Commons.

Election Possible

Since the Liberal government lacks a majority in the 265-seat house, such a challenge could force a new election if successful. The Liberals have 129 seats to 95 for the conservatives, 23 for the Social Credit Party and 17 for the New Democratic Party. One is independent social credit.

The most controversial issue at the moment—Pearson's acceptance of U.S. nuclear weapons — was referred to only obliquely. The throne speech said merely that Canada's armed forces "should have available the modern weapons necessary to perform the defensive tasks which Canada has undertaken."

While calling for disarmament and a nuclear test ban, the speech said Canada must remain strong until these objectives are achieved.

It was generally believed the opposition parties will strongly criticize the nuclear policy but will avoid any move to force a vote of no confidence. None of the parties is anxious to face the expense of a new election so soon after the April election that brought down John Diefenbaker's Conservative government.

Improve Relations

The speech referred to Pearson's recent talks with Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and President Kennedy. It declared that "by such visits and other means the government will continue to improve political and economic relationships with other countries."

It called for reduction of trade barriers, but pledged that the government will do everything possible to expand Canada's export trade and to reverse the country's unfavorable balance of payments.

Specifically, the speech listed these measures aimed at increasing employment and expanding economic production:

—Establishment of a Department of Industry.

—Creation of a Municipal Development and Loan Board.

—Creation of a National Economic Council.

—Establishment of a Canada Development Corporation, designed to increase Canadian investment in new industries and to increase Canadian ownership of existing industries. The United States is the largest foreign investor in Canadian industry.

Taking Action

The government also disclosed it is taking action to ease the controversy over the role of Canada's 5½ million French speaking citizens. A commission is being set up to assure "truly equal" partnership between English speaking and French speaking Canadians. The French speaking Candians feel they are discriminated against for jobs in both industry and the government.

The speech dealt with two more issues in which the United States has a special interest. It said the government will undertake discussions with the United States and British Columbia's provincial government to obtain action on Columbia River power development, stalled by treaty and financing disagreements.

And it informed parliament that the government is going ahead with plans to establish a 12-mile territorial limit for use of Canadian fisheries. Both issues were taken up with Kennedy at Hyannis Port, Mass., last week. The United States said it would stick to the 3-mile limit now observed by both nations. Pearson assured Kennedy U.S. rights would be taken into account.

Europeans Threaten To Burn Town

. . . FOLLOWING MURDER BY TROOPS

Jadotville, Katanga, The Congo (UPI) — The entire European community of this mining town 80 miles northwest of Elizabethville threatened to burn it to the ground Thursday and return to Europe.

The 4,000 Europeans are in revolt following the murder Wednesday night of a Belgian worker at the Union Miniere mining complex. Daniel Dendieval was kidnaped near the center of the town Wednesday afternoon, driven to the National Congolese Army camp 20 miles away and beaten to death with rifle butts by 12 soldiers.

The troops concerned have not been arrested and their motive for the murder was unknown.

Issue Ultimatum

More than 500 furious Europeans met at Jadotville's Union Miniere Mine Club Thursday and issued an ultimatum to the Congolese authorities: either the Congolese troops are withdrawn from Jadotville or all white women and children will be evacuated immediately to Europe and "we will carry out a scorched earth policy."

"It will then be man to man," a spokesman said, "and we will know what to do before we go."

The crowd cheered his words and a woman, with tears rolling down her cheeks, said: "If we don't get protection we will leave and destroy everything we have built up here."

"It is all finished," said an angry European policeman. "Unless the A.N.C. (National Congolese Army) are withdrawn, we are all going back to Belgium."

Prepare To Leave

Many Belgians were already preparing to leave Jadotville with their families to return to Europe.

The Europeans also cabled King Baudouin of Belgium, now on a state visit to Britain, demanding the recall of the Belgian consul in Elizabethville. They charged he was incapable of protecting whites from the brutality of the A.N.C. garrison.

Jadotville's streets were deserted Thursday and the huge Union Miniere copper smelting plant was closed and silent.

Townspeople were talking of organizing patrols and many were demanding arms to defend themselves. A deputation was meeting representatives of the Union Miniere and the United Nations Thursday night to discuss the powder-keg situation.

Penkovsky Shot To Death By Soviets For Espionage

Moscow, (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced Thursday that former scientific official Oleg Penkovsky had been shot to death for selling secrets to the West.

The 43-year-old Penkovsky was convicted with British businessman Greville Wynne only last Saturday. Wynne was sentenced to 3 years in prison and 5 years in a labor camp for espionage. Penkovsky was condemned to death for treason.

Twelve other Britons and Americans were linked officially to the case and ordered banished from the Soviet Union. Two of them were wives of British diplomats.

The Tass News Agency announced the execution in a 46-word dispatch which said:

"The spy Oleg Penkovsky has been executed. The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR rejected the appeal for clemency made by Penkovsky who had been sentenced by the Military Collegium of the Supreme Court of the USSR for high treason to death by shooting."

Highway Urban Fund Killed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Unicameral Thursday killed legislation designed to create a state highway urban fund after amending it beyond recognition.

The bill, LB469, died on a 22-19 count.

In its final form, it provided for a 50 cent increase in motor vehicle registration fees with revenue earmarked for access roads to recreation areas.

The state highway urban fund would have been created through a $720,000 annual allocation from present gasoline tax revenue.

Further, the bill provided permissive authority for cities to enact wheel taxes for matching fund purposes.

Amendments shaping the measure in its final form were proposed by Sen. William Brandt of Unadilla, and adopted on a 26-14 count.

Earlier, the Legislature had agreed on a 20-13 count to reduce a proposed $4 increase in registration fees to $2. An effort to place the hike at $1.50 failed on a 21-18 count. LB469 originally proposed a $5 boost.

Lawmakers voted 21-16 to distribute the proposed $2 boost by allocating 50 cents to recreation roads and $1.50 to a state highway urban fund.

Such distribution was proposed by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, who also suggested the $1.50 registration fee increase.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha successfully raised the figure to $2.

Effect of the Burbach amendment was to eliminate allocation of funds to cities, counties and villages as proposed by the original bill.

Money in the highway urban fund would have been used only for construction and improvement of state highways in municipalities of more than 5,000.

Kill Motion

Brandt's amendment tossed out all previous action, and the motion to kill followed from Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo.

The bill, Forrester argued, represented "another swat at the farmers." Further, he said, "we've gotten along all these years without it."

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte contended that the Brandt amendment allocating money from the present gas tax funds would slow down Nebraska's highway construction program by perhaps two years.

Brandt said it would have "a negligible effect" on the pace of construction.

Burbach said the $1.50 registration allocation to the urban fund would be "a cheap price to pay to leave our highway revenue allocation the way it is."

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff agreed, arguing that the bill represents a compromise between the town and the country. The alternative, he said, is gas tax reallocation or changes in the mail route fund.

But both Sens. Elvin Adamson of Nenzel and George Gerdes of Alliance said elimination of aid to cities, counties and villages left the bill "completely out of balance."

Vote on the motion to kill:

For: Adamson, Bahensky, Bowen, Bridenbaugh, Carpenter, Claussen, Danner, Erlewine, Fleming, Forrester, Foster, Gerdes, Hasebroock, Klaver, Kremer, Mahoney, Nelson, Payne, Skarda, Stalder, Stryker, Wylie.

Against: Brandt, Burbach, Craft, Damrow, Gerhart, Lysinger, Marvel, McGinley, Moulton, Orme, Gottschalk, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Ruhnke, Russillo, Stromer, Thompson, Warner.

Not Voting: Kjar, Syas.

Architect Medal Given Omahan

Robert Vlasnik of Omaha received Wednesday evening the American Institute of Architects' Medal for the outstanding senior student in architecture at the University of Nebraska.

He was presented the award at ceremonies by Philip Johnson of New York City, designer of the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery on the campus.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon C. Vlasnik, he has the highest grade average in his senior class. After graduation this June, he will be employed by the Omaha architectural firm of Leo Daly.

Runner-up for the award was Richard Robertson of Sioux Falls, S.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Robertson. After graduation he will return to Sioux Falls to work.

Only One Aid Case Ineligible—Woods

State Welfare Director Frank Woods said Wednesday that so far only one case of ineligibility has been found in 110 cases of aid to families with dependent children surveyed in Nebraska.

The study, which Woods said will not be finished here until early June, is being conducted at the request of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) which was prompted by a congressional committee looking into the program.

Woods said that the survey in Nebraska will include 145 of the 3,337 total current cases. Fifty-nine are in Douglas County with the rest spread out over the state to get a good cross-section.

The same study is being conducted by other states.

Woods said the target date for completion has been pushed back because the HEW changed the criteria it wanted used in the study.

He said the purpose of the study is to determine the extent of ineligible persons receiving aid through misrepresentations.

Woods noted in one case found since the study started "it will be comparatively easy to re-establish eligibility."

He reported "there have been numerous instances of improper payments to recipients, both underpayments and overpayments. The county department has been notified and the necessary corrections have been made. An exact accounting of these cases will be included in the final report."

The study in Nebraska is being conducted by 6 field men under the supervision of Alan H. Ihms of the State Welfare Department.

The final figures will be released here before the report is sent to Washington to be incorporated in the nationwide survey. The report is due in Washington by June 24.

Woods said "the federal bureau (HEW) is requiring that a 'quality control' system be incorporated in each state's auditing system by Jan. 1, 1964, and the experience gained during this review will be helpful in incorporating this system permanently into our on-going audit procedure."

Woods added that although the study has been expensive and time consuming, "much worthwhile information has been gathered as to how efficient our present investigatory procedure is, in actual operation."

Clearwater's Spirit One Of Churchillian English-ness

By BILL W. DEAN

Clearwater (AP)—If an ambitious politician could pick his home town, this northeastern Nebraska village would be the place.

Hay ranchers, cattle feeders and their families still crowd into town on Saturday night. They buy and gab along blacktopped Main St., with its little red smoke-begrimed railroad depot at one end and flag pole at the other.

In times past, every passing Chicago and North Western steam engine stopped here for a boiler full of the mineral-free water—the water that gives the town its name.

The population of 420 is predominantly second or third generation Europeans, mostly Scandinavians and Germans.

But there's one fellow of English descent, garage owner and mechanic Milton A. Smith, 54.

Practical Majority

For practical purposes, Englishman Smith is in the majority around Clearwater these days. Because:

Down at Randall Hixson's Bar and Grill they're playing darts.

E. M. (Bus) Yaryan has taken to selling petrol at his gas station. (That's what his sign says.)

And any townsman can tell you the No. 1 residence in Clearwater is the American home of Sir Winston Churchill.

All this happened because Clearwater, recognizing its assets, volunteered itself as the home town for a politician—and brand new American—who made good.

The petrol sign, the darts and even an experiment with driving on the left-hand side of the street are part of the town's compliment to Churchill.

Unicam Moved Fast

When Congress began talking about making Churchill an honorary U.S. citizen, Nebraska's unique one-house Legislature moved quickly to make Sir Winston an honorary citizen of the Cornhusker State.

Clearwater promptly proclaimed Churchill a citizen of the village and to show it meant business, offered Sir Winston and Lady Churchill use of one of its best homes.

Through his secretary, Churchill responded that the "good wishes of the people of your town meant much" to him. He and Lady Churchill regretted they could not take advantage of the home which had been put at their disposal.

At his point, some of Clearwater's residents felt they had an opportunity to pay Sir Winston a deeper compliment. If Churchill could not visit them, they decided to offer a young Englishman a trip to America and Clearwater.

Led by Chamber of Commerce President George Wrenholt, Clearwater businessmen announced an essay contest, open to Englishmen in the 21 to 25 age bracket. The subject: "The Price of Freedom in Today's World." The essays must be on their way by June 15.

The village had still another idea. It has launched a non-political "Conservative party" which it hopes will sponsor future conventions of young people—"amateur politicians"—to discuss world issues.

How do these Midwesterners feel today about the village's English airs?

"There are some people who don't think much of the idea," Wrenholt admits. "And we've even had a couple of crank letters—one from New Hampshire and one from Brooklyn."

Shoplifter Bill Becoming Law Without Morrison Signature

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Thursday he will allow LB398 — the so-called shoplifting bill — to become law without his signature even though he is "convinced in my own mind the bill is unconstitutional."

The measure, passed last week by a 39-2 vote, is an amendment to the 1957 shoplifting law which made merchants, their employes and police officers immune from liability for false arrest, false imprisonment or unlawful detention for taking into custody and detaining suspected shoplifters for a reasonable length of time.

The 1963 bill adds immunity from slander and libel to the statute, and would apply whether an individual was convicted or acquitted of shoplifting.

Earlier Thursday Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha reported he had received an opinion from the attorney general's office holding that the 1963 amendment "most likely would be held unconstitutional" by Nebraska courts.

At a late afternoon press conference, Morrison said he recognized that the "crime known as shoplifting is becoming increasingly more of a problem, particularly since so much merchandising today is on a 'help yourself' basis," and that LB398 was introduced "as a tool to help solve this problem."

Morrison declared, however, that "historically, the right to determine constutionality, or the lack of constitutionality, is not vested in the executive, anod rightly so, but is rather reserved to the courts.

"As long as there is any question whatsoever in reference to the constitutionality of an act of the Legislature, I personally do not feel a governor should veto an act of the Legislature because of the opinion of the executive that the act violates the constitution."

Morrison said he was referring to himself as the executive, not the attorney general's office.

"I, therefore, have decided neither to sign or veto LB398, but to allow it to become law without my signature to whatever extent, if any, the act may be valid," Morrison said.

The bill was introduced by Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and Don McGinley of Ogallala.

Morrison Sets Strict Limit On Power Board

Gov. Frank Morrison Thursday said he has decided not to appoint "anyone who has ever been employed by an existing public power agency" to membership on the newly-created Nebraska Power Review Board.

The board was established by LB220, a legislative bill which the governor signed Thursday.

Morrison's announced policy on appointees limits the field of possibilities beyond limitations already imposed by the Legislature.

4-Year Limit

The bill bans any persons who have been associated with electric utilities within the past 4 years. The 4-years restriction was also placed on any former elective state official.

Morrison said he will not consider appointing any former state officer to the board.

The governor revealed that he has already chosen one of the board's 5 members, but he will not announce any of the appointments until he has filled all 5 posts.

Morrison has 30 days to make the appointments, all of which must be confirmed by the Legislature. Thus, it would appear that the 1963 session will have an opportunity to review the membership before it adjourns.

"Objective' Goal

The governor said he has adopted the policy of not considering former public power employes in order to put together a board which is "as objective as possible."

Such action should eliminate "rag-chewing within the board," he noted.

"This is not a reflection upon people in the field. They are among the finest, most knowledgeable, most dedicated people I know.

"But their former association and employment would not permit the degree of objectivity which the board needs."

The board will be composed of an engineer, an attorney, an accountant and two lay persons.

Ag Dept. Name Change Wins 1st-Round OK

The name of the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection would be changed to the "Department of Agriculture and Economic Development" under a bill given first round approval by the Legislature Thursday afternoon.

The measure, LB 717, was introduced by Sens. William Brandt of Unadilla and Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth to give the department a name more descriptive of its functions.

The Nebraska Resources Division, which promotes industrial development, is presently under the Agriculture Department, but the division's functions would be absorbed by a proposed new Department of Economic Development under a pending bill, LB 767, proposed by Gov. Frank Morrison.

LB717 was one of 8 bills advanced from general file Thursday afternoon. Others included:

LB760—Providing procedure for obtaining refund of gas taxes when original copy of invoice for refund has been lost, mutilated or destroyed.

LB655—Providing that cabin trailers registered for operation on highways need not secure a cabin trailer permit.

LB640—Authorizing life insurance companies to make certain investments now allowed fire and casualty companies.

LB755—Increasing the selling price on Supreme Court reports from $1.50 to $5 per volume.

LB288—Authorizing condominium property ownership under which an individual may own one apartment in an apartment building.

LB699—Permitting actions by either employe or employer against a third party in workmen's compensation cases and providing for attorney fees and assessment of costs.

LB754—Eliminating obsolete matter and otherwise revising laws relating to banks and trust companies as recommended by the state banking director.

We're Very Proud Family

. . . MRS. COOPER REPORTS AS SECLUSION ENDS

Houston (AP)—"We are a very proud family tonight."

That was the way Mrs. Gordon Cooper summarized her family's reaction Thursday to the historic space flight by her astronaut husband.

Mrs. Cooper and her daughters—Camala, 14, and Janita, 13—were smiling as they walked out the front door of their brick and stone home where they had remained in seclusion throughout the 34-hour, 22-orbit flight.

"I felt very calm and confident," Mrs. Cooper said when asked how she reacted to news that a malfunction aboard the Faith 7 had forced her husband to use hand controls while preparing for the space ship's splash in the Pacific.

Both Cam and Jan said they had not been nervous during the flight.

"I was not nervous," said Cam, dressed in a beige print dress.

"I knew he could do well," she added.

Jan, wearing a white and brown dress, said: "I was confident."

Mrs. Cooper, a pretty brunette, appeared a bit nervous as the brief news conference got under way on her front lawn. The nervousness seemed to have disappeared by the time it ended abruptly with the news her husband was waiting on the telephone.

She said President Kennedy had called immediately after the end of the flight and invited the family to the White House on next Monday.

"He just wished us well and invited us to be in Washington on Monday," she said. "We plan to be there; planning to stay only two days in Hawaii."

Mrs. Cooper and the girls are to fly to Honolulu Friday for a reunion with the new U.S. space champion.

An hour before the Pacific splash down, the wives of 4 other astronauts—Donald K. Slayton, Virgil Grisson, Walter Schirra, and Alan Shepard—arrived at the Cooper home and remained with the family.

"It is nice to have friends at a time like this," Mrs. Cooper said. "The wives were good for each other."

Europeans Hail Flight

London (AP) — Marvelous . . . incredible . . . heroic . . . fantastic.

So West Europeans Friday hailed the space voyage of Gordon Cooper —and heaved a sigh of relief when they learned the American astronaut landed safely.

In scores of towns and cities in Britain and continental Europe millions stayed up past midnight for television and radio reports of the tense last minutes of Cooper's 22-orbit flight.

Brilliant Climax

What amazed them was not only Cooper's bravery, but the brilliant climax of the U.S. Air Force major's achievement in piloting Faith 7 down from space to within a few miles of the rescue ship.

"Ruddy marvelous," said a London cop on a lonely early morning beat when told the news.

"Incredible! incredible!" said a Rome housewife. "It took my breath away."

The Soviet news agency Tass reported the landing with mention of trouble he had in his last orbits.

Europeans saw some of the drama surrounding the end of the space flight on television.

The television pictures, clear and precise, were mostly of Cape Canaveral and film recordings. The drama came from the commentary from the Mercury Control Center and the voice of Cooper himself, crackling through space as he spoke to the ground control.

Through the day Europeans had listened to the regular newscasts of Cooper's progress.

They heard there has been a technical hitch in the capsule. Cooper would have to fire his own retro-rockets.

The Mercury Control Center voice crackled impassively:

"The retro rockets have fired . . . the capsule has assumed the proper attitude for re-entry."

Then came the word Cooper's main parachute had opened well. He was coming down. He was safe.

"C'est formidable," said a Paris bartender.

A Paris news vendor rolled a cold cigarette in his mouth and said: "That is what you call calculation."

'STEP TOWARD MOON' MADE

Cape Canaveral (UPI)—The director of America's effort to land a man on the moon said Thursday night that astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's successful 22.9-orbit flight was "another step toward going to the moon and making America first in space flight."

"We're all pretty happy," D. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight for NASA, said at a news briefing after the flight.

Walter Williams, Mercury operations director, called the fiight "a textbook flight."

"I described Shirra's flight as a textbook flight," Williams said. "I think this was too with the same connotation—but in the last 5 hours we used every page in the book."

Alan Shepard, Cooper's back-up pilot, said the emergency decisions on Cooper's re-entry were "made very rapidly . . . were made inside a minute."

Williams was asked what would have happened had Cooper been unconscious when the automatic control system failed." "He would still be up there," Williams said. "He would not have been able to re-enter."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

ASTRONAUT GOT 7½ HOURS SLEEP

Cape Canaveral (UPI)—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper, who can sleep almost anywhere, got in 7½ hours of peaceful slumber Wednesday night while his spacecraft was hurtling around the earth at 17,546 miles an hour.

Cooper drew the curtains over the window of his Faith 7 capsule and turned in about 10:30 p.m. EDT.

You'd think a man would have some privacy while he was asleep way out there in space. But Cooper's every breath and heartbeat were radioed back to Mercury Control Center here.

Once during the night his pulse rate shot up from 60 to 100, and the eavesdropping doctors speculated that he was having a lively dream. But engineers reported that the incident coincided with a rise in the spacecraft's cabin temperature. Evidently, Cooper had merely roused himself briefly, like any homebody, to turn down the thermostat.

Questioned about the incident, Cooper himself said: "I slept too sound to have dreams."

He woke up of his own accord about 6 a.m. EDT, and thereby frustrated the world's most elaborate alarm clock. The Muchea, Australia, tracking station was all geared to wake him up by transmitting a special sound tone to his capsule. But Cooper beat them to it by calling them a cheerful good morning.

MRS. GORDON COOPER . . . relaxed, relieved.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Cooper's Mom Smiling

. . . BUT FIRST THERE WERE TEARS

Tecumseh, Okla. (AP)—First there were tears. It was a long wait and they crept now and then from the corner of her eyes and trickled down her cheek.

Then it was over.

And Mrs. Hattie Cooper could smile. A big smile, a smile that lit up her whole face.

Her astronaut son had circled the earth for more than 34 hours, had piloted the Faith 7 to a perfect landing in the Pacific.

Birthday Present

It was a beautiful 63rd birthday present for a mother.

And a wonderful day, too, for an astronaut's grandmother, 82-year-old Mrs. Orena Herd, in whose little frame house a long vigil was kept.

"I've got to take care of you," Mrs. Cooper told her mother when it was announced the landing was a fine one and Cooper was safe.

She got up, went to the kitchen and brought a glass of water to her mother, who had sat in front of the TV, rocking slowly.

The two women were calmer earlier Thursday than they had been when Cooper went into orbit.

But the tension built during the final, climactic phase of re-entry.

The only sound came from the cage of a parakeet. The little bird kept chattering and pecking on a tiny bell, causing a tinkling noise that broke loudly into silent thoughts.

Neither woman spoke for more than an hour as they waited through the reports of the re-entry into the earth's atmosphere and until Cooper's capsule was safely aboard the pickup ship.

'All Right'

"Gordon is all right," beamed Mrs. Cooper.

"I'm glad this is over," said Mrs. Herd.

But the astronaut's mother smilingly asked, "What'll you do when he goes to the moon, mama?"

"I want to thank the good Lord and everyone who had anything to do with the success of this flight," said Mrs. Cooper.

Proud of Him

"I was so very proud of him and so very thankful for his return."

A half-dozen newsmen waited inside the little house with the two women and 3 others —Mrs. Cooper's sister, Mrs. Kay Kickok; a friend, Mrs. Alice Moffat, both of Enid, Okla., and the Rev. Roma Stewart, who is Mrs. Herd's pastor.

Fifteen to 20 newsmen waited outside, along with scores of other people.

Before she went out to greet those outside, the minister led a prayer of thanksgiving.

In Shawnee, just 5 miles away where Gordon Cooper was born, his other grandmother watched the reports of the flight on television, too.

"I was too happy to be scared," said Mrs. Cora Cooper. "I was a little anxious, but I know Gordon. Especially, since he had the controls himself.

"The day he didn't get off was harder on me."

RACE WOES IN SUBURBS

. . . Not The Deep South

Des Moines, Iowa (UPI) — A Presbyterian church leader said Thursday the core of the nation's racial problem lies in all-white suburban residential communities, not in the Deep South.

The difference between them, he said, is merely a "refinement in evil."

Dr. Marshal L. Scott, retiring moderator of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, said it is in the "all-white residential communities that circle our cities" that the "very fundamentals of our constitutional systems and our biblical faith are most vigorously violated."

No More

There is no more racial discrimination in Birmingham, Ala., than in hundreds of all-white suburban areas in the North and West, Scott told the opening session of the 175th United Presbyterian General Assembly.

Scott, dean of the Presbyterian institute of industrial relations in Chicago, was stepping down as moderator. The assembly is the highest governing body of the United Presbyterian Church and its 3.2 million members.

Scott said because most of the persons attending the assembly come from the North and West, "we find it easier to point to Mississippi and Alabama than to face the situation at home."

Loudest Talk

But the real heart of the problem lies in the all-white residential communities "where there is the loudest talk about freedom and the most shouting about communism," he said.

Scott cited the Chicago suburb of Deerfield, Ill., which blocked construction of an integrated housing project by appropriating the land for a park.

In Birmingham, he said, "there is a forthright rowdy as a police officer who cares nothing for either moral or civil law so long as he can keep 'the Negro in his place'."

At Deerfield, he said, "a sophisticated and sneaky city council makes a public park of the land on which bi-racial housing was about to be built.

"The distinction is merely one of refinement in evil," he said.

"Until our all-white suburban communities deliberately seek to break the walls of separation that now prevail," Scott said, "the dammed-up flow of Negroes from the agricultural South to the industrial North and West will pile up to sicken and possibly destroy us."

New Movement

On the international scene, Scott charged the Kremlin has responded more enthusiastically than American Protestants to Pope John's recent plea for world peace. He called for "a new movement against militarism and for the peaceful instruments of an ordered society."

Noting that more than three-quarters of all federal tax monies are used for war purposes, Scott said "if it is true, as Jesus said, that 'where your treasure is, there will your heart be also', then our federal budget is the measure of our failure."

MRS. EDWARD KENNEDY SUFFERS A MISCARRIAGE

Washington (AP) — Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy, wife of the Massachusetts senator, has had a miscarriage, the senator's office said Thursday.

The loss of the baby, which had been expected in late August or early September, occurred Tuesday, a spokesman for the senator said.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is 26, was reported resting comfortably at her Georgetown home.

Mrs. Kennedy, the former Joan Bennett of Bronxville, N.Y., is the President's sister-in-law.

She is one of 3 Kennedy wives who was expecting a baby. First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of the President, and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, wife of the attorney general, also are expecting babies this summer.

The baby Joan Kennedy was expecting would have been her third child. She and the 30-year-old senator have two other children, Kara, 3, and Edward M. Jr., almost 2.

CBS President Says Sheldon Gallery 'Eloquent'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

MRS. SHELDON . . . 'dream come true.'

STANTON . . . 'extraordinary event.'

The Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery "is an eloquent reminder that man does not live by science alone," Dr. Frank Stanton of New York stated Thursday at the dedication of the $3 million addition to the University of Nebraska campus.

Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System and a director of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, said the opening of a university art museum "is an extraordinary event."

He said the Sheldon Gallery already "has been pronounced on respectable authority, the 'best designed, most beautiful small museum in America today.'"

He said the building's architect, Philip Johnson, "is well on his way to become the master of the 20th Century museum as Christopher Wren was of the 17th Century church."

Stanton complimented "an imaginative institution and an imaginative architect for a noteworthy achievement."

'Most Difficult Task'

Architect Philip Johnson said creating the Sheldon Gallery was "most difficult task of my career."

"It was nearly impossible I can assure you," he explained. "It was that difficult because it was the most generous, the most 'free' of all commissions I have ever had."

Johnson said there were no client directives or square-foot cost restrictions onto which an architect could shift responsibility for an ugly or unimaginative work.

The facade of the building—measuring 100-by-150 feet—is dominated by tapered and curving piers.

Interior spaces of the two-story gallery are enclosed and contrasted, with clearly departmentalized elements. A majestic Great Hall spans the width of the building with a modern bridge stairway to the second story.

Mrs. A. B. Sheldon, widow of one of the donors, said the building is "a beautiful dream come true."

"This exquisite, dignified building cannot help but give peace and relaxation to the spirit. It is satisfaction in the age of hustle and bustle to come upon a building so compelling in its demand for peaceful contemplation of its beauty."

Mrs. Sheldon said she hoped it will prove even more useful than it is beautiful and that the "works that are placed in it may be an inspiration that will produce in Nebraska a future Rembrandt, Rodin or even better Philip Johnson."

"I am confident this beauty would have been pleasing to both Frances (her sister-in-law) and Bromley (her late husband)," she said.

'Seal Of Genius'

Dr. Ben Greenberg of York, president of the Board of Regents, said the Sheldon Gallery "is a masterpiece of perfection and stamped with the seal of genius."

"Today the emphasis is on learning, and trained minds are essential to progress," he said. "There must be a sensitive balance between the disciplines of learning, living and the arts."

"Education is a journey without end and is a rare composite of the knowledgeable." he concluded.

The dedicatory program also included University Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Gov. Frank Morrison.

Resolution In Legislature Pays Tribute To Sheldons

Nebraska's Legislature paid tribute by resolution Thursday to the Sheldon family for the "exceptional gift" of the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery on the University of Nebraska campus.

The resolution was adopted just ahead of the dedication Thursday of the new $3 million structure, described by its architect as "the best museum in the country."

The New York architect, Philip Johnson, who has designed 5 museums, told newsmen at a preview showing of the gallery Wednesday night that he was proudest of the Sheldon gallery.

The resolution recognizing the Sheldon family's contribution was introduced by Sen. Albert A. Kjar of Lexington.

Mrs. A. B. Sheldon of Lexington, widow of one of the donors, was present when the resolution was adopted, was escorted to the front of the Legislature by Sen. Kjar, received the resolution in person and expressed her thanks to the lawmakers.

The resolution noted that the gallery was the gift of Frances Sheldon and A. Bromley Sheldon and gave "special recognition to Mrs. Olga Sheldon who with sincerity and dedication has given of her funds, time and talent toward the successful completion of this outstanding memorial."

MINNEAPOLIS FIRM PLANS EARLY CONSTRUCTION

The Northwestern Corrugated Box Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., Thursday announced selection of Lincoln as the site for early construction of a manufacturing division.

The announcement was made jointly by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, the Development Corp. and Northwestern Vice President Paul Boeye.

Boeye said the 50,000-square-foot plant would be built on the Sias industrial tract at 70th and Fletcher at a cost between $350,000 and $600,000.

Plans are expected to be completed within the next 10 days for immediate contract letting. Oct. 1 is target date for commencing production.

Pioneer in Field

Northwestern, a 35-year-old pioneer in its field, manufactures corrugated box containers, die cuts and displays for a wide variety of commercial and industrial products, specializing also in research and custom designing.

At the outset, it plans a 15-man operation for box production, relying on the home plant for basic material and engineering. Its purchase of 10 acres of the Sias tract, however, provides ample space for expected expansion in both volume and processing.

Boeye also announced selection of Richard Warman of Minneapolis as resident Lincoln manager. The local division will operate under the name Lincoln Corrugated Box Co. It will serve a 5-state area centering on Lincoln.

First Outside

The new division represents the concern's first plant operation outside Minneapolis.

The firm is no stranger in the Lincoln region. It currently supplies the needs of a number of producers, including the National Manufacturing Co., makers of creeping lawn sprinklers, and the Cushman division of Outboard Marine Corp.

Nor is Boeye a stranger to Lincoln. He is a 1919 graduate of Lincoln High School and a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University of which he is now a trustee.

Boeye said selection of Lincoln was based on 3 factors —the local manufacturing climate and available product outlets, the valuable service of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce assisting in research and the attractiveness of Lincoln as a community.

Jones Dismisses Peru Power Bid Made By Auburn

State Water Resources Director Dan Jones Thursday dismissed an application by the city of Auburn to construct a transmission line to serve Peru State Teachers College on grounds he no longer has the authority to grant such authority.

Jones said LB220, signed by the governor and now law, vests control over the installation of new transmission lines in a Nebraska Power Review Board.

Jones said the city of Peru had been supplying power to the teachers college, but its contract had run out and Auburn came up with a lower bid for the job.

Jones, who is secretary of the Power Review Board under terms of the bill, said the teachers college and the Auburn municipal power agency had already signed a contract for the supply of new power.

The water resources director said he dismissed the application without prejudice to any parties involved. He did not know what steps the applicant would take now.

"Extra Good" For Your Recipe Files

The outdoor eating season is in full swing, and a new salad recipe is always welcome. Good cooks who love the flavor of real butter in their cooking, as well as the baked potato and "gobs of butter" crowd will be pleased with this new-style Buttered Potato Salad with its golden color and intriguing flavor.

Diced cooked potatoes are combined with chopped green onion, celery, and hard-cooked egg. Then to give the salad its zesty flavor, mix together this special dressing with vinegar, salt, sugar, dry mustard and melted butter. The butter takes the place of salad oil or bacon fat. You'll want to take care to mix the dressing and add it to the salad at the last minute before serving. But DO NOT REFRIGERATE the salad once the butter dressing has been added, since the butter will solidify.

BUTTERED POTATO SALAD
6-8 SERVINGS

4 cups diced, cooked potatoes
¼ cup chopped green onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup (1 stick) butter, melted
Hard-cooked eggs, sliced for garnish

In a bowl combine potatoes, onion, celery and eggs; toss gently. In a small bowl combine mustard, sugar, salt and vinegar; stir until sugar dissolves. Stir in butter. Just before serving, toss butter dressing with potatoes; garnish with egg.

CHICKEN WITH ALMONDS

2 tablespoons cooking oil
⅓ cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
1 can (4-oz.) mushrooms, undrained
2 cups cooked, diced chicken
1 can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
2 tablespoons Argo Corn Starch
¼ teaspoon ginger
3 tablespoons Soya Sauce
¾ cup chicken bouillon
½ cup toasted almonds

Heat corn oil in heavy skillet. Add onions and celery, cook until soft. Add mushrooms and chicken; heat gently five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add water chestnuts.

Combine corn starch, ginger, soya sauce and bouillon; stir into mixture in skillet. Cook until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Stir in almonds. Serve hot on fluffy white rice. 6 servings.

Note: Cashew nuts may be used instead of almonds if desired.

Tired of serving eggs the same old way? Pep up your picnic menus with these delicious Stuffed Eggs Curry.

STUFFED EGGS CURRY

1 dozen eggs, hard cooked
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon chicken seasoned stock base
¼ teaspoon instant onion powder
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon curry powder (may be increased if desired)
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely minced cooked or canned chicken (optional)
Little tidbits for toppings: capers, anchovies, olive slices

Carefully cut hard-cooked eggs in half (crosswise), then slice a small cap off the ends. Remove yolk and mash or force through a sieve. Add mayonnaise, chicken seasoned stock base, onion powder, pepper, curry powder, salt and chicken. Mix thoroughly. Refill the egg white, piling the yolk mixture high. Cap with the smaller portion of white and top each with rolled anchovies, sliced ripe or stuffed olives, capers, pimento and red or green onion.

Try This

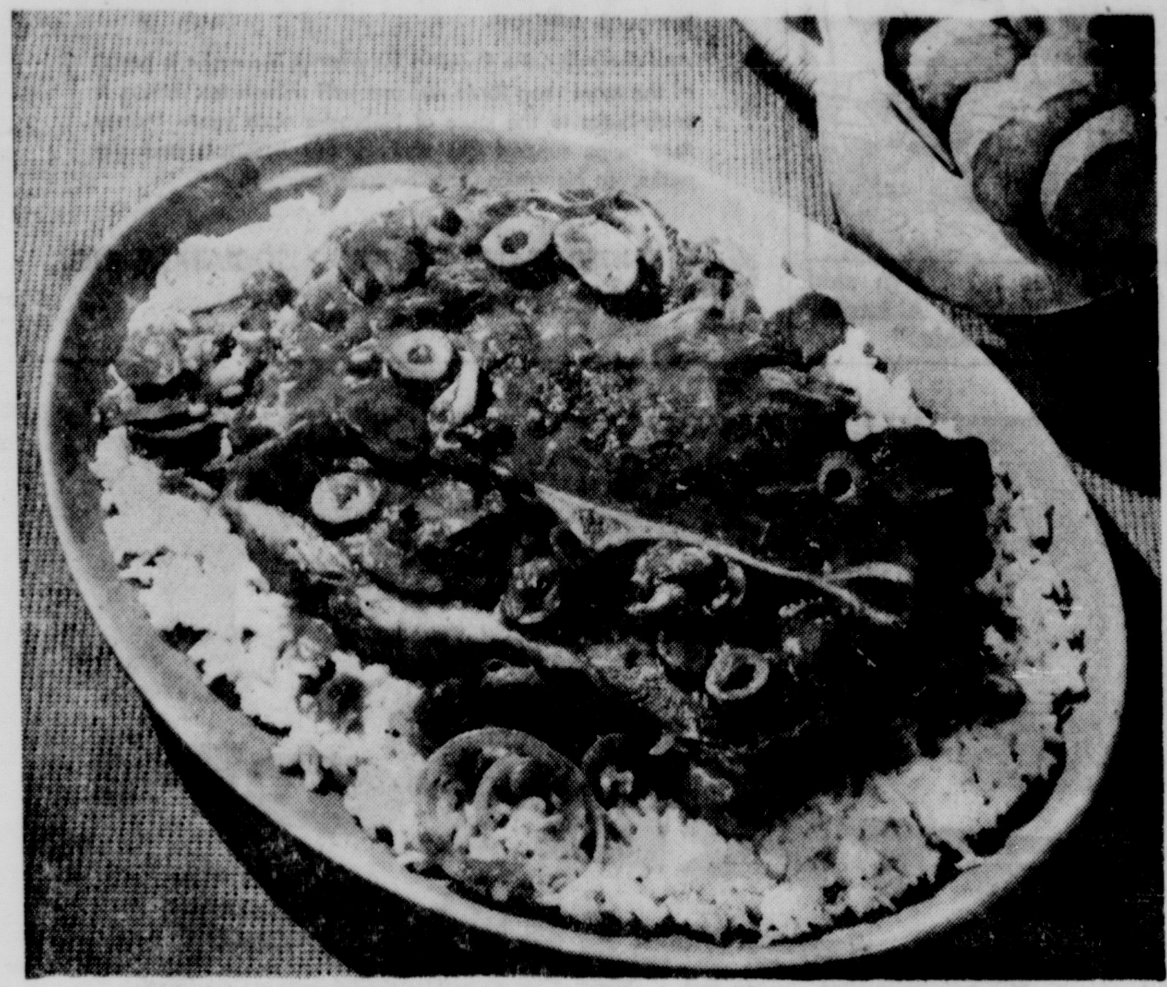
Sometimes the weatherman says "yes" — other times "no", but regardless of clouds rain and such, barbecue sauce continues to be popular — especially this one.

Barbecue Sauce

1 cup mayonnaise
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
¼ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1½ tablespoon horseradish
1¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon cayenne
¼ to ½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce

Combine all ingredients and blend well. This sauce will keep several weeks in the refrigerator. Yield: 2 cups.

Beef—The Italian Way



Modern-day recipes based on Italian cookery are very much a part of American eating. Meat balls and spaghetti, pizza, lasagne, scallopini . . . the list could go on and on.

A "less-tender" beef steak that requires braising is a perfect selection for just such a cooking adventure. In fact, since beef is especially abundant right now, the budget cuts are likely to be even more attractively priced.

This delicious recipe for Italian Steak calls for beef arm or blade steak. The meat is first dredged with seasoned flour and browned. After the drippings are poured off, the meat braises slowly in a zesty sauce of tomatoes, sliced onion, mushrooms, green pepper and olives. Slow cooking for about 1½ hours creates a wonderfully tender meat dish.

Serve the meat and sauce on fluffy white rice. For fun round off the menu in the Italian manner with Italian dressing on the salad, zucchini squash, garlic bread, fruit plate and macaroons for dessert and coffee.

ITALIAN BEEF STEAK

1 beef arm or blade steak, cut 1 inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 medium onion, sliced
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced, stuffed olives
Flour for gravy

It's A New And Different Salad

Summer is definitely a time to entertain but because of the heat the location of the meal often changes. Perhaps it's a shaded spot under the awnings or trees, where a table set with colorful linen or bamboo mat, and sparkling china and silver seems to say "welcome." Important, too, is the food which should look cool, refreshing and appealing to the laggard appetite. To fulfill all these requirements, serve a salad . . . a molded salad made from canned tuna—Here is a good one.

Tuna-Spinach Mold
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon celery salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup sour cream
⅓ cup mayonnaise
2 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
¼ cup finely chopped radishes
½ cup finely chopped celery
Tomato and cucumber slices

Soften gelatin in water in saucepan; dissolve over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook spinach according to package directions using unsalted water; do not drain. Force through food mill, or blend in electric blender; add enough water to make 4 cups spinach puree. Stir in gelatin mixture, salt, celery salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sour cream and mayonnaise; chill until slightly thickened. Fold in tuna, radishes and celery. Turn into 8-inch spring form pan or 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with tomato and cucumber slices.

Uncooked Applesauce

Here's a delicious applesauce made in the blender, and with a teaspoon of the Vitamin C mixture added.

Uncooked Applesauce

½ cup water
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon ACM (ascorbic-citric acid mixture)
1 lb. tart apples
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine first 3 ingredients in electric blender. Slice peeled and cored apples into blender at high speed about 30 seconds (or less). Makes 6 to 8 servings.

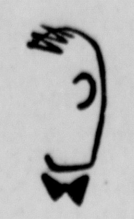
Feeling Fit as a Fiddle? Dr. Walter C. Alvarez column "Medical Round-up" appearing in the "Sunday Journal and Star" gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane



New York is the melting pot of world's goods. In specialty shops, you can buy alligator soup or Arabian slippers. Bagel holders and barrel organs. Bird's nest soup and bocce balls.

The telephone yellow section lists packaged butterfly wings, brioche, left-handed checkbooks, Claddagh rings, coq au vin to take out, couscous, goose eggs, and figure-heads for sailing ships.

Fossils and furs-for-rent. Haggis, hairpieces, harpsichords. Goat meat, grape leaves and glass eyes.

You can buy Chinese parsley, out-of-date magazines, magic lessons, have a manuscript illuminated — (Hello, Mr. Editor! Guess what!) — see Arabic movies, buy Irish county newspapers, take origami lessons, purchase man-eating fish, poi, pogo sticks with automatic jump recorders, human skulls, or take home a zither.

Irving Hoffman lives on West 48th street, a long spaghetti length above Zucca's Italian restaurant.

In the New York dawn when West to East plane trips change my sleep, I have breakfast with Irving.

Hoffman can't sleep either. I shouldn't wonder. West 48th off Broadway is full of morning taxis and the clatter of garbage cans being dragged to the sidewalk's edge.

"The only good sleep I ever had," said Irving, "was in Vienna after I had an acapuncture treatment."

Irving tried a couple of months of the waters at Montecatini in Italy. He said it could not compare with acapuncture.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the hot New York summer, Hoffman removes from the ravioli restaurant area two blocks away to an "athletic club."

"The wonderful thing about it," said Irving, "is that it is just like going to Yellowstone Park. They pipe pine incense into the rooms and out on the rooftop."

Amid the heady, outdoor odor of lodgepole pines, Hoffman suns himself happily on the roof, oblivious to office workers who can stare down on him — but who don't. They are used to the summer sunners and take it as a matter of course.

☆ ☆ ☆

The New Yorker can buy himself a trip to Finland — the sauna baths. P. J. Moriarty, the 54th street public house owner, steams himself at the New York Athletic Club.

At day's end, Gordon Manning, executive editor of Newsweek, boards a train and is soon among the birch trees of Westport, Connecticut.

The hour commute sends the account executives to Bucks County, to Westchester, up the Hudson — some helicopter to the airport and fly to Cape Cod.

If pine trees pall, Hoffman goes to a nearby delicatessen. "They make a couple of caviar sandwichs and box them up," said Irving. "I take them out and rent a rowboat in Central Park. Sit out in the boat and have the sandwiches and read a book.

There is a restaurant in the Metropolitan Museum he finds attractive.

Hoffman goes out and gazes at the mummies. Then he goes down for a quiet lunch.

EASTBOROUGH

News from here and there in Suburbia this morning concerns visitors, trips, bridge, coffees, and what have you.

In Eastborough, Sunday was a very big day for Mr. and Mrs. Keith Erlewine and their children, Karen, Randy, and Kris, — but not just because it was Mother's Day.

It seems that May 12 in the Erlewine family not only meant Mother's Day this year, but also a birthday for little Miss Karen Erlewine and an anniversary for Mrs. Erlewine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Maning.

Mr. and Mrs. Erlewine and family left Lincoln on Saturday, and drove to Central City where they were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manning, and where they celebrated the triple occasion on Sunday.

Joining the Mother's Day, birthday, and anniversary celebrants on Sunday were Mr. Erlewine's parents, Sen. and Mrs. Dale Erlewine, of Grant.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Also entertaining on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. George Holdren and their children, Chris, Gregg, and Susie. Their guest of honor was Mrs. Holdren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sparr, who arrived from Henderson, Iowa, to spend Mother's Day at the Holdren household.

PARK MANOR

Mrs. Bob Hall, whose coffee we mentioned yesterday, is scheduled to do more entertaining soon, for she will be hostess on Monday to the other 11 members of her neighborhood bridge club. This group, which meets twice a month, will be enjoying an evening of dessert and bridge on Monday at Mrs. Hall's home.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Fleming last weekend were Mrs. Fleming's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Berger, who spent Friday, Saturday, and Sunday with their daughter and son-in-law and grandchildren, Julie and Greg. Mr. and Mrs. Berger are Abilene, Kan., residents.

Also returning to Lincoln and Park Manor recently was Mrs. Don Turek, who has just spent three weeks with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Polecock, and new grandson, Scott, in La Crescenta, Calif. Born just one week before Easter, Scott has one other brother, Doug, 1½ and a sister, Heidi, 3.

A hostess for coffee, doughnuts and conversation on Thursday of this week was Mrs. Norman Leuthausser, who entertained about 20 guests at the morning gathering in her Park Manor home.

We hear that the recent Colorado-like weather had inspired the coffee, and we certainly hope that the weatherman's change of heart on Wednesday and Thursday didn't ruin any plans or disappoint the hostess!

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

We have some future news this week concerning a trip to Kearney planned by Mrs. Howard Frey and her daughter Donna.

The trip is scheduled for May 18, and in Kearney, they will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gehre.

Town Talk

If we had time we could go on and on about the fabulous Sheldon Memorial Art Museum, which was formally dedicated Thursday morning—about Phillip Johnson, whose "genius and intelligence," as Dr. Frank Stanton so aptly put it, gave the building its shape and personality—He was its architect—We could say that we were inspired by Dr. Stanton, who gave the main address at the dedication, and that we were delighted with the unadulterated charm of Mrs. A. Bromley Sheldon whose husband, the late Mr. Sheldon, and his sister, Miss Frances Sheldon made the magnificent gift to the University of Nebraska. We might say, in passing, we were more than a little pleased with everything concerning the dedication—

* * *

From one brand new, exquisite building we go to one that was constructed in 1715. This is an old house in New Boston, Mass., and although it is a long, long way from Lincoln, there is a bit of Nebraska associated with it.

We have learned from Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson who are just home from the east coast, that the new owners of this historical house, are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Stokes—and there will be many who will remember when Dr. Stokes was a member of the University of Nebraska faculty. Dr. Stokes now president of Queens College, and Mrs. Stokes purchased the house from a concert singer, Florence Wickham Luder, who spent a small fortune in some repairs, a bit of remodeling, some authentic decor and then used it as a summer home. Dr. and Mrs. Stokes also "summer" there, but plan to make it their permanent residence one day—after retirement.

* * *

Now a word about the Andersons and their trip east. They went first to New York City where Mrs. Anderson attended a Red Cross meeting, and spent some time in Norwalk, Conn., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ayer, formerly of Lincoln. Then the visit with Dr. and Mrs. Stokes in New Boston—and home.

* * *

While we are on the subject of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson we will mention their house guest who arrived on Thursday afternoon. He is Mrs. Anderson's father, Arthur Gadd who came from Bell, Calif., but who still calls Lincoln "home." We hear that Mr. Gadd came for the Shrine festivities this week.

* * *

There are to be dinner guests at the Governor's Mansion on Friday evening. The 1963 American Mother, Mrs. John Engdahl, and Mr. Engdahl, will dine with Gov. and Mrs. Frank Morrison.

The wedding is planned for June 18.

Why Grow Old?

Questions, Answers

Josephine Lowman

Q. "Which has the most calories butter or margarine?

A They are approximately the same.

Q. "When counting calories in soda crackers do you count the large square with four small sections as one cracker or four?"

A. You are an optimist and I hate to disillusion you but each small section is counted as a cracker.

Q. "When exercising, (bending and touching the fingers to the floor) is one hundred times too much at one time? My heart is very good and so is my blood pressure."

A. It all depends on how you feel afterwards. Do not exercise to the point of fatigue. What would be very strenuous for one woman may be easy for another, depending on her physical condition. I would think that you might want to take one or two little breathers to break the hundred bends. Your exercises are just as valuable and effective when you do this.

Wrong Places

Q. "Some of us older gals find that when we diet we lose in the wrong places, for instance, in the face rather in the abdomen and the hips. Can we do anything about this?"

A. Yes! Do not lose too rapidly and take hip and abdominal reducing exercises with your calorie counting.

Q. "Please answer my letter in the paper since my husband is at home when the mail arrives. How many months of exercise will it take to add two to four inches to my bust? I have practically none and I am desperate. This is ruining my marriage because I am so selfconscious."

A. In order to increase the bust measurement, one must build up the chest muscles. This takes time, probably at least two or three months to see a difference. Your self-consciousness will damage your marriage much more than a small bust ever could.

Here is an exercise which you can do at your leisure which will help you add to your bust measurements. Clasp the hands together in front of the chest with the elbows bent. Push hard against the other. Can you feel the muscles of the chest contract? Hold it a few seconds. Relax. Push again. Continue.

Q. "Please let me know if you have ever heard of using Epsom salts in a bath for reducing?"

A. Yes I have heard of it but it is not reducing. At most it could only effect the water in the tissues, not fat.

CHATTER — in the — CORRIDOR

BY SANDIE LAW

The main attraction around Lincoln Northeast this week was Hobo Day on May 16. This day, for seniors only, was a surprise to the teachers and underclassmen since it was kept a secret by the senior class. Seeing the different outfits that were worn filled the halls with laughter.

Jan Knickerbocker was hostess at a senor girls slumber party the night before Hobo Day. Kym Dahlstrom and Marilyn Carlton also were hostesses at two other slumper parties for senior girls. Everyone slept (???) in the back yard under tents. It was a lot of fun for everyone.

Prom will be climaxed on May 25—the date of the party. This year's theme is "Carousel." Tickets now are available, and plan to be there!

Friday the instrumental music department will present its annual spring concert. The Rocket Band, the Rocket Orchestra, and the Prep Band and Orchestra will be presenting the program. Everyone is invited to attend.

Preliminary cheerleader tryouts for varsity football were held Wednesday night after school. The finals will be held on Monday morning. Lots of luck girls!

Dear Abby

You Hire a Lawyer to Sue a Lawyer

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you go about suing a lawyer? He is trying to sue me for legal fees which he claims I owe him. I owe him nothing. Now I wish to sue him for damaging my reputation.

REPUTATION RUINED

DEAR RUINED: You go about suing a lawyer the same way you go about suing anyone else. Hire a lawyer.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine (and close neighbor) is running around with a married man. She is married, too. I want to know how much I should stick by her. Should I completely turn my back on her and let her know that I don't go along with what she is doing? Another neighbor and close friend (we all have coffee together) is having the same mixed feelings about her. We have always thought a lot of this person until she started confiding in us about her love affair. They are getting real careless about seeing each other and are sure to get caught. There are young children involved. We aren't busy-bodies. We just don't know what to do.

CONCERNED FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Attempt to get your wayward friend back on the straight and narrow. If she isn't interested in changing her ways, end your friendship with her. And tell her why.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument? WHO should answer the door when a date comes? I have always thought the girl NEVER answers the door for a date unless her parents aren't home. Shouldn't one of the parents answer the door and CALL the girl to tell her her date has arrived? Some of my friends say it's the girl's place to answer the door. I think it makes her look too anxious. What do you say?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It may be more dramatic an entrance for the girl to be "called" — but it's more considerate for the girl to answer the door herself.

DEAR ABBY: I would like some information. I have lived in our neighborhood five years and would like to join the Women's Club. I have never been asked. Does one ask to join? Or wait to be asked?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: If you know a woman who is a member, ask her what their policy is. If you do not know a member, telephone the headquarters, and inquire about the "qualifications."

☆ ☆ ☆

Yes, Abby will send you a personal reply if you send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your problem.

Overcall Response

QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♠	2♦	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠Q74 ♥K6 ♦K82 ♣AQJ75
2. ♠85 ♥AJ97 ♦Q63 ♣AJ52
3. ♠— ♥KJ63 ♦A854 ♣KQ932
4. ♠J842 ♥KQ753 ♦J ♣J76
5. ♠9 ♥KQJ8742 ♦753 ♣A6

1. Three notrump. To bid less would show a lack of respect for partner's overcall. Granted that the spade stopper is not a sturdy one, standing by itself, there should still be no fears on that score. With West opening the bidding and North strong enough to overcall in the two level, it is next to impossible for East to have a high card in his hand. Our hand has 15 points and West and North between them probably have the remaining 25. The queen of spades is therefore sure to be a stopper.

Nine tricks should not be difficult to take at notrump. It would be improper to bid two notrump or three clubs, since either bid might be passed out.

2. Three diamonds. The best chance for game is in notrump, and the diamond raise is given in the hope that North has spade strength and will undertake three notrump. It would be wrong to bid two hearts or three clubs. Neither bid would be strength-showing, and, in most cases, would tend to deny diamond support. Furthermore, these bids would nearly always be based on suits five or six cards in length.

3. Two spades. A slam in diamonds is by no means impossible, despite West's opening bid, and the best way to investigate the possibility is by means of a cuebid. For practical purposes, partner needs only a good diamond suit and either the ace of hearts or ace of clubs to make twelve tricks.

The intention is to jump to five diamonds if North bids two notrump or three diamonds, his most likely rebids. Such a jump, in conjunction with the cuebid, would guarantee a spade void and would amount to a plea for North to bid a slam with a proper hand.

4. Pass. There is no need to rescue partner because of the singleton diamond. North is likely to have a six-card suit and will probably make two diamonds. A heart bid would be a shot in the dark.

5. Four hearts. You can't very well bid less with this layout. While you can't positively guarantee four hearts, the odds strongly favor making it. Also, it's best to tell North right away the kind of hand you have — great length in hearts and a probable game — so that he will know what to do if there is any further bidding.

Big 8 Record Books In Line For Revamping

. . . COLORADO PICKED TO GRAB TRACK CROWN; HUSKER HOPES SLENDER

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Manhattan, Kan. — A wholesale assault on the record books is expected here today and Saturday as Colorado, Nebraska, Missouri, and Oklahoma State battle for the championship in the 35th annual Big 8 Outdoor Track and Field Meet.

Two marks have already been bettered this spring, another tied and several others pressed closely.

Kansas State's Pat McNeal has run the mile in 4:05.3, well under the record of 4:06.2 recorded by Oklahoma's Gail Hodgson in 1959.

But McNeal can expect to be pressed by Nebraska's Mike Fleming who is only 5th by pre-meet times with a 4:13.3, much slower than McNeal's best time.

However Big 8 track fans will remember last year when Fleming came into the meet a distinct underdog to Kansas' Bill Dotson and beat the two-time Big 8 champion.

Colorado's mile relay team has been timed in 3:10.1, four-tenths of a second better than the meet record of Oklahoma State's in 1959.

The Buffs' Leander Durley has a 6-8½ high jump this spring, equal to the Big 8 record set by Missouri's Bob Lang in the 1956 meet here. Durley may have to set a record to win the event with Iowa State's Larry Eilert pushing him. Eilert has jumped 6-8¼ this spring.

Four other high jumpers are over 6-6— Oklahoma State's Russ Laverty at 6-7½, Ross Tunnell of Missouri at 6-6½, Kansas' Tyce Smith at 6-6¼, and Kansas State's Steve Rogers at 6-6.

Other meet records in danger are:

—Discus where John Anderson of Oklahoma State has a 181-7 toss. The record is 183-5 by Kansas great, Al Oerter, in 1956.

—100-yard dash with Nebraska's Ray Knaub running :09.5 and Colorado's Dick Burns at :09.6. Iowa State's Hubert Meier set the record at :09.4 in 1930 and Charlie Tidwell of Kansas tied it in 1959. Meier's mark is the only one going back further than 1954.

—880-yard run with Greg Pelster of Missouri owning a top time of 1:50.4 this spring, close to the record of 1:49.0 set by Joe Mullins of Nebraska in 1959.

—120-yard high hurdles with Jim Miller of Colorado skimming the timbers in :14.1 this season, only one-tenth of a second over the record set by Keith Gardner of Nebraska in 1958 and tied by Rex Stucker of Kansas State in 1961.

440-yard relay with both Colorado and Nebraska having a shot at the record, but the Huskers need a healthy Kent McCloughan. The record of :40.7 was set by Oklahoma last season and Nebraska has a best time of :40.9 while Colorado has run :40.8.

Colorado rates as the pre-meet favorite to unseat defending champion Oklahoma who is likely to finish about 6th. Missouri is given the nod to push the Buffs on the basis of a win over Nebraska Saturday.

The Huskers and Oklahoma State are rated as outside threats. Nebraska hopes took a nosedive when sprinter McCloughan injured an ankle in the spring football wind-up. Although the Husker two-sport star made the trip, he is not expected to be at full strength which could cost the Huskers a shot at the outdoor title to go along with the indoor trophy won last winter.

McCloughan was being counted on by NU coach Frank Sevigne for points in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and to run a leg on the 440-yard relay team, but with a hobbled McCloughan Husker hopes are dimmed.

This year's meet will be the final appearance in an official capacity of Big 8 old-timers Reaves Peters, John Bentley and Ward Haylett.

Executive Director Peters, Nebraska Sports Information Director Bentley and K-State coach Haylett will be doing their swan song in this weekend's meet. All 3 will retire this year.

Wayne Duke has been named to replace Peters with Don Bryant, former sports editor of The Star, replacing Bentley, and DeLoss Dodds, former K-State athlete and ticket manager, taking over for Haylett.

Preliminaries will be held today in the 440, 100, 220, 880, high hurdles, intermediate hurdles, shot put, javelin, broad jump, discus, and triple jump.

Today's action gets under way at 3 p.m. with Saturday's final program beginning at 1:30.

BERNIE MASTERSON DIES

Heart Seizure Fatal For Former NU Football Head

. . . ENGAGED IN YOUTH WORK

Bernie Masterson, former University of Nebraska head football coach and an outstanding athlete at the University and Lincoln High School, died Thursday in Chicago of a heart seizure. He was 50.

Masterson

Masterson, employed as athletic director for the St. Andrews Community Center in the Chicago area, collapsed in the St. Andrews Church gymnasium. He was rushed to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

He is survived by his wife, Pauline, 3 daughters and two sons.

Masterson began his Cornhusker athletic career at Lincoln High, played 3 years under Harold Browne and earned 10 athletic letters. He had the distinction of having never played on a losing team in high school and achieved all-state halfback honors.

Tutored By Bible

Masterson entered the University of Nebraska in 1930, lettered 3 years under football coach Dana X. Bible and was named to the All-Big 6 team his senior season. He also lettered 3 years in swimming and once in track.

After playing in the College All-Star game at Soldiers Field in 1934, Masterson signed with the Chicago Bears and was converted into a quarterback by coach George Halas. He spent 7 years with the Bears and later became an assistant coach in addition to handling the quarterback chores.

In the spring of 1940, he moved to Stanford University where, under coach Shaughnessy, he installed the "T" formation and was given a great share of the credit for the Indians' undefeated season and the sparkling play All American quarterback Frankie Albert. Masterson's proficiency with the "T" helped result in his later being named to the Chicago Bears Hall of Fame.

Following a year as backfield coach at UCLA and a 44-month period in the U.S. Navy, Masterson was hired as head NU football coach in December of 1945 to succeed George "Potsy" Clark.

He was under a 5-year contract, but after two losing seasons he resigned suddenly stating that "circumstances beyond my control" had prompted the decision. Masterson's team won 3 and lost 6 his first year and slumped to 2-7 the second season.

Rumor had it that a group of Nebraska alumni bought the remainder of Masterson's contract for $20,000.

NU's Chancellor at the time, R. G. Gustavson, made no attempt to conceal his displeasure concerning the situation and stated, "The real principle here goes beyond the football field. I regret that Masterson has resigned because of pressure from a segment of public opinion which by no stretch of the imagination was unanimous over the state."

Masterson's next assignments were with the New York Yankees and Iowa University, in both cases assistant coach positions.

In 1951, Masterson took the football reins at Lewis College in Lockport, Ill., and guided his team to an 8-1 record and a Corn Bowl bid in his first season. During the same year he began his work as director of the Catholic youth center in Chicago and continued in that post until his death.

Meanwhile At Lawrence

Manhattan, Kan.—While much interest among Big 8 sports fans is centered here this weekend, Kansans will have one ear cocked toward Lawrence where the Jayhawkers are winding up spring drills Saturday with the annual varsity-alumni game.

Coach Jack Mitchell has been doing considerable experimenting on the Lawrence campus during spring drills and the Jayhawkers are very high on a couple of freshman backs.

Mitchell's biggest move this spring has been to put a heavy emphasis on the passing game and one of the keys in the new offense has been Gale Sayers, who dazzled the conference as a sophomore last season with his running.

The KU football boss has been using the speedy Omahan as the valve in a pro-type, safety-valve pass. With this play, the quarterback drops back in a normal pass pattern as the receivers go their separate routes.

Meanwhile, one back who has been Sayers, loafs out to the side just in case the deep receivers are covered. The Jayhawks feel Sayers has the power to go with his speed to make the play effective.

Sayers has been the big gun in the KU running attack all spring just as he was last fall. In last Saturday's intrasquad scrimmage the 190-pounder gained 106 yards on 12 carries, including a 28-yard touchdown gallop.

But it has been the passing emphasis that has Kansas fans buzzing. In the Jayhawkers' last scrimmage, a 12-12 tie, the 3 quarterbacks tossed 39 aerials. hitting on 19.

Handling the passing load has been freshman quarterback Steve Renko, a 6-4 Kansas prep product from Wyandotte. Renko hit 13 of 26 attempts for 149 yards in the scrimmage.

Two freshman backs who have Jayhawk followers talking in superlatives are Bill Gerhards, a 5-8, 190-pound fullback, and Mike Johnson, who plays both fullback and slotback.

Lawrence sports columnist Bill Mayer says Johnson, "can run, block, tackle, throw a respectable running pass, can catch and even punt a little if necessary. He does it all with fierce passion and reckless abandon. Outside of this, of course, he's practically a nothing."

Jennings Likes Freshman

Former Husker head coach Bill Jennings, now backfield coach at KU, is very high on Gerhards. "He can dart in and out better than anyone I've ever seen," Jennings says.

The Jayhawks are counting on Gerhards moving in behind Ken Coleman at fullback, a spot weakened by the shift of Armand Baughman to guard.

In another experiment this spring, Mitchell has been using Ron Marsh, another Omahan, at defensive center.

The Kansas school has not been without its troubles this spring, however, with Brian Palmer's decision to quit highlighting the spring troubles.

Palmer quit in a huff because, according to him, he wasn't getting to call enough plays. The popular Canadian was being counted on as the No. 1 quarterback next fall and his quitting immediately raised questions about morale problems on the Lawrence campus.

Reports from Lawrence indicated that Palmer was extremely popular with the other players and many of them weren't too happy with the treatment he had received during spring drills.

While Kansans will be watching the results of the game closely, their Nebraska neighbors also have an interest in the contest.

Aside from the fact that 3 Nebraskans—Sayers, Sid Micek and Marsh—will be seeing considerable action, there is the thought of Nov. 9 when the Jayhawks meet the Huskers in Lincoln.

And the Kansas club will be remembering the thrashing they took at the hands of Bob Devaney's Huskers last year at Lawrence. If Mitchell continues his stress on the aerial game, next fall's Nebraska-Kansas contest could turn into a pitching duel between the Huskers' Dennis Claridge and whomever Mitchell chooses as his top signal-caller.

Weather Chief Foe For Prep Carnival

. . . STATE MEET TODAY

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Only rain and wind stand between 911 high school track athletes and a state record onslaught.

The weather element will play the most important role in determining how many records will be set when the hord of tracksters from 280 Nebraska schools hit Nebraska's Memorial Stadium for the two-day state meet today and Saturday.

Last week's district qualifying meets for the 4 classes of competition indicated that this year's crop is reaching peak performances.

Ten districts class marks fell and 3 others were tied.

Schoolboys will set their sights on 15 events — one less for Class C and D because they don't run a two-mile relay.

And just one of the state records — best performance for all classes at the state meet — is a pre-World War II standard. That's the 163-2¾ discus mark by Lincoln High's Howard Debus in 1940.

It should stand up for another year since Grand Island's John Sanders is the only thrower this season over 160 feet. That was early in the spring and Sanders has been slumping since.

A record is expected in the 880-yard run with Scottsbluff's Allen Russell posting a 1:56.9 district record, .1 better than the state mark. He will receive his toughest competition from Fairbury's Bill Hansmire and Lincoln Pius X' Jim Sullivan, both 1:59.4 runners.

This event is the only track final on today's program. It will begin at 2:20 p.m. with Class D runners leading off.

The opening event is the Class B pole vault at 10 a.m. It'll be staged in the East Stadium, out of the way of the weather elements. All vault and broad jump action will be inside, everything else outside.

Friday's preliminaries in the dashes and hurdles, will begin with the 120-yard highs at 1 p.m.

No other events hold the sure hope for a state record as does the halfmile. But past experience hints that every state meet results in maximum efforts and surprising performances.

Three performers will be gunning for their second Gold Medal:

—Scottsbluff pole vaulter Jack Ehler.

—Hurdlers Bob Smith of Fairbury and Dennis Thorell of Loomis, who shared the highs medal a year ago.

In Class A, defending champion Grand Island and Scottsbluff will renew a duel which found the Bluffs winning the Big 10 Conference meet by a mere 2 points. GI figures to be stronger at the state meet.

Title titles should be hotly-contested for all classes.

Loup City has drawn the Be favorit role with 3-team races in the lower two classes.

Pender, Bertrand, and Grant are the C favorities While De Witt, Culbertson, and Loomis are the D hopefuls.

Saturday's action opens with field events at 9 a.m. The two-mile relay at 10:30 a.m. will be a morning track final with the rest beginning at 1 p.m.

Omaha North's Cage Coach Quits

Omaha (AP)—William (Spec) Nelson, who has reigned as North High School basketball coach for 20 years, is resigning the post.

The spry 51-year-old fellow with the ready smile has directed all 4 major sports at North at one time or another, but is best known as basketball and football assistant.

He will remain at North on the teaching staff. No successor has been named.

The peak Nelson teams include those which appeared in the state tournament in 1949 and 1955. No Viking coach before him was able to guide a team into the big show.

De Witt Athlete Gets $300 Grant

De Witt — Roy Smith, De Witt high school senior was presented a $300 W-club scholarship from Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Ed Stevens, president of the W-club, athletic honorary group, made the presentation during De Witt's high school athletic banquet.

The award was established this year by the W-club.

The scholarship is awarded to an entering freshman who ranks in the upper one-third of his high school graduating class and has exhibited good leadership and character.

Smith has been a mainstay of De Witt's football and track squads during his high school athletic career.

KEARNEY GETS BIG LEAD IN COLLEGE MEET

Kearney (AP) — The Kearney Antelopes won 5 of 6 events during the opening day of competition in the Nebraska College Conference Track Meet Thursday, scoring 57 points.

Hastings had 19, Doane 10, Wayne 7, Peru 2 and Chadron 1 point.

Kearney qualified 12 men for Friday's finals. Doane qualified 11, Peru 4, Wayne 3 and Chadron and Hastings 1 each.

Two records were set Thursday.

Gary Mason of Kearney hurled the javelin 220-4 to beat his old mark of 208-11½, and Gerry Stuckert of Kearney won the broad jump at 23-8¼ to wipe out the old mark of 23-4½ set by Jack Osborne of Hastings.

Kearney won the 2 mile relay in 7:53.1 and the 800 relay in 1:29.4.

Charles Hircock of Kearney took the shot at 51-2 and Bob Owens of Hastings won the high jump at 6-2.

Giants Defeat Mets; Braves Sweep Series

By Associated Press

Willie Mays and Willie McCovey each hit two-run homers as the National League leading San Francisco Giants built a 5-run lead, then fought off New York's scrambling Mets, 6-5, Thursday.

The victory, which went to unbeaten Billy O'Dell, was the Giants' 3rd straight at Candlestick Park and boosted their home record past the .500 mark. They're 9-8 at home, 13-5 on the road.

Big Earl Wilson threw a two-hitter at the Los Angeles Angels and pitched the Boston Red Sox to their 5th straight victory, 3-0, in the only day game in the American League.

Ernie Banks singled in the only run Larry Jackson needed as the Chicago Cub right-hander shut out Cincinnati, 2-0, on 6 hits.

Milwaukee completed a sweep of a 3-game series with St. Louis, 5-2, knocking the Cards 3½ games off the pace. Home runs by Stan Musial and Gene Oliver spoiled lefty Denny Lemaster's bid for a shutout.

The Giants' O'Dell won his 5th without loss, but needed relief help from Gaylord Perry as Cliff Cook, Ron Hunt and Chico Fernandez hit home runs in a Met rally that fell one run short.

Cleveland dropped the Chicago White Sox out of first place in the American League when Max Alvis' leadoff homer in the 9th gave the Indians a 5-4 victory. The loss left the White Sox .015 points behind first-place Boston.

In another AL night game, Brooks Robinson cracked 3 singles and drove in 4 runs, powering Baltimore past Washington, 9-1, and into 3rd place, one game back of the leaders.

Philadelphia won its 21st game in 23 meetings with Houston since the Colts entered the NL last year, with Don Demeter and Tony Gonzalez each driving in two runs in a 5-2 triumph. Demeter collected his two runs batted in with his 6th homer.

John Roseboro's single with two out in the 9th drove in Jim Gilliam with the game's only run as Los Angeles Dodgers edged Pittsburgh, 1-0, and moved into second place in the NL. Johnny Podres was the winner and Don Schwall the loser

Syas Hopes To Spike Gavins Boundary Pact

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said Thursday he will introduce a resolution calling for the Legislature to denounce officially a portion of the Nebraska-South Dakota boundary settlement reached last weekend in Omaha.

Syas said in an interview he will consult with several other senators and the Game Commission about the proposed resolution, which would rebuff that portion of the tentative agreement allowing reciprocal fishing and hunting rights in the Gavins Point Dam tailwaters area.

The intent of the resolution, Syas said, will be to point out that fishing and hunting policies should be determined by the Game Commission and not by the boundary commission or governor.

His resolution would allow reciprocal fishing rights on common waters, but not on lakes, rivers or streams that lie completely in Nebraska.

"The tailwaters below Gavins Point Dam," Syas said," "are positively in this state and therefore would not be open to reciprocal permit agreements."

Syas said he doesn't feel the boundary commission and the governor had a right to negotiate fishing rights.

Reds Sell Post; Sign Up Spencer

Cincinnati (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds signed up infielder Daryl Spencer Thursday and announced the sale of outfielder Wally Post to the Minnesota Twins of the American League.

Post, 33, a popular Reds player for years, also played in only a few games this season. Last year he batted .263 with 17 home runs and 62 runs batted in.

Rural Retreat Boosts Field For 87th Preakness To 8

Baltimore (AP) — The buzzing over whether Chateaugay, Never Bend or Candy Spots is likely to cop the richest prize for 3-year-olds, the 87th Preakness on Saturday, continued unabated Thursday despite the entry of 5 others.

The one mild surprise entry, William B. Robinson's Rural Retreat, did nothing to change the majority opinion that the scrap at the end of the 1 3-16-mile race will be among the leading trio from the Kentucky Derby.

Most students of form around Pimlico considered Rural Retreat's entry as merely adding $1,000 to the pot. If Robinson wants to go for a second $1,000 for starting, there will be $180,000 to distribute with the winner's share $127,500.

That's mighty rich for Rural Retreat's blood. He's won two out of 16 races for total earnings of $11,506.

By contrast, Chateaugay has put $134,770 in the pocket of John W. Galbreath of Columbus, Ohio, so far this year. Harry F. Guggenheim of New York is richer by $527,000 from the performances of Never Bend with his second year of racing less than 5 months gone, and Rex Ellsworth of California has counted $349,000 from only 7 races by Candy Spots.

Also joining them for the second go-round in the triple crown will be Michael and Jack Stein's On My Honor, 4th in the Derby; the Jacnot Stable's Country Squire; Mrs. Charles D. Morgan's Sky Wonder, and T. D. Buhl's Lemon Twist.

Beermann Swings At Wheat Plan

FEW LISTEN AT WILBER

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Star Staff Writer

Wilber — A mere handful of two dozen faithful Republicans assembled here Tuesday evening to hear Congressman Ralph Beermann attempt a mighty swing at the May 21 wheat referendum vote.

Farmers were conspicuous by their absence from the Beermann meeting.

Another meeting scheduled to coincide with the Beermann meeting by the Wilber Chamber of Commerce attracted the farmers.

The Dakota City Republican told his audience that the issue in the wheat referendum was not the price of $2 or $1 per bushel or a partisan or political question. The issue, he said, is whether farmers should transfer the right to manage their farms to a Washington bureaucracy to experiment with supply management.

Cochrane Quoted

Beermann quoted at length from previously published statements made by Dr. Willard Cochrane, economist with the Department of Agriculture, which he (Beermann) termed "a trend to supply management that would spread from crops to livestock."

While Beermann was attacking the administration wheat program, area farmers were attending an informational meeting on the referendum.

They expressed particular interest in provisions of the proposed 1964 program which would offer insurance against hail, drought or flood. This interest followed recent hailstorms in which some of the farmers lost their entire 1963 crop.

In addition to the insurance, the program would provide 70% per bushel certificates on 80% of normal production, if two-thirds of the nation's voting farmers approve the proposal.

The farmers also expressed favorable reaction to a substitution clause which would allow farmers to choose between wheat or feed grain crops on allotted acreage.

The assurance of a promised price for the 196 wheat crop (which would follow approval of the program) offers more assurance for farm economy than the indecision that might follow a "no" vote, the farmers said.

Brogden Tells City Planners 'Mapping Land Use Difficult'

More than 100 city planners and engineers discussed present plans and future problems at a one-day Nebraska Planning Institute at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education Thursday.

City-County Planning Director Douglas Brogden told the group that mapping out "future land use needs is the most difficult job that the community has."

He listed some of Lincoln's planning problems as:

—Extension of residential areas into a new drainage area which would require an entirely new sewer system.

—Increasing distance of the central business district from new residential areas.

—Continuing loss of population from the area surrounding the central business district.

—Street and family displacement problems likely with the proposed future expansion of the University of Nebraska.

Lincoln Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger reviewed the problems of parking, traffic and streets, commenting that "many of our road systems are inadequate to meet even today's demands."

Location of commercial establishments along busy arterials is causing increasingly serious traffic and parking problems, he said. Future commercial development should be channeled into shopping center areas with adequate off-street parking.

The planners also heard from Omaha and Nebraska Resources Division experts, and from David Johnson, assistant regional director for special programs, Housing and Home Finance Agency.

169 County Pupils Receive Diplomas

In annual exercises Thursday, 169 eighth-grade pupils from 37 rural Lancaster County schools were promoted.

The new 9th graders were addressed by Dr. Glover A. Leitch, minister of First Presbyterian Church.

County Supt. Glenn E. Turner presented diplomas.

Auto Equipment Taken

Equipment worth $7.24 was taken from a compact auto belonging to Misle Chevrolet Co., 4949 O, while it was parked on the company lot, police reported Thursday. Stolen were a distributor cap, spark-plug wires, and a rotor.

Mandatory Hospital Plan Deferred

The State Hospital Advisory Council decided Thursday it will not call for mandatory community planning of hospital facilities in its revised State Hospital Plan, Verne A. Pangborn reported.

Pangborn, chief of the hospital division of the State Health Department, said that council members will recommend in the revision that community planning is desirable and encourage its practice, but that they decided this was not the time to make it mandatory.

In earlier discussions, the council had considered requiring communities to establish planning agencies which would determine priorities and needs of hospital facilities within a community, rather than leaving this responsibility to state agencies.

One of the reasons for not making it mandatory, he said, was because his division lacks the personnel necessary to follow through and assist communities in their planning.

On another matter, the council decided to place a minimum figure of 20 beds on any general hospital which was to be considered as a single unit in applying for federal Hill-Burton construction funds.

Also agreed upon was a minimum figure of 30 beds for combined units, he said.

Urge Tax Chief Be Reconfirmed

The Legislature's Committee on Committees Thursday recommended confirmation of the appointment of Forrest Johnson to another 6-year term as state tax commissioner.

Gov. Frank Morrison had sent the reappointment to the Unicameral, although the new term does not begin until next September.

The committee also endorsed the governor's appointments of George J. Buglewicz and Jack Molsbee, both of Omaha, to the advisory committee to the Departments of Institutions and Welfare.

Air Strip Shelled For 2nd Day By Pathet Lao

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces shelled the neutralists' air strip near the Plaine des Jarres Thursday for the second straight day, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's office said.

Despite the shelling from heights overlooking the Muong Phanh air strip, neutralist planes continued landing with supplies, a communique reported.

The air strip, about 8 miles west of the plain has been the main source of supply for Gen. Kong Le's neutralists since they were driven from most of the plateau area by the Pathet Lao last month.

From his headquarters at Khang Khay, Prince Souphanouvong of the Pathet Lao sent the neutralist premier a strong protest against the supply of U.S. arms to the neutralist forces.

Informed sources said Kong Le recently equipped most of his 5,000-man force with U.S. arms to be in a position to meet any new Pathet Lao attack.

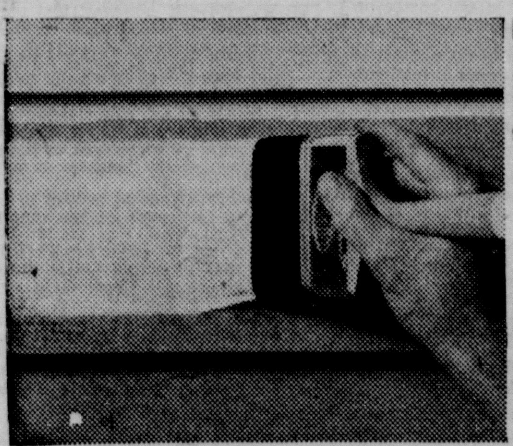
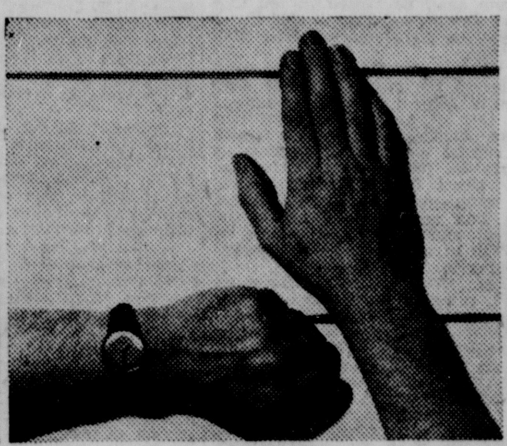
Du Pont announces a major breakthrough in house paint

Now LUCITE® comes to house paint.
After 25 years' experience in acrylic chemistry... after developing LUCITE Wall Paint that offers beauty without bother inside your home ... Du Pont brings the benefits of LUCITE to the outside. New LUCITE House Paint is totally unlike any conventional paint you've ever used.

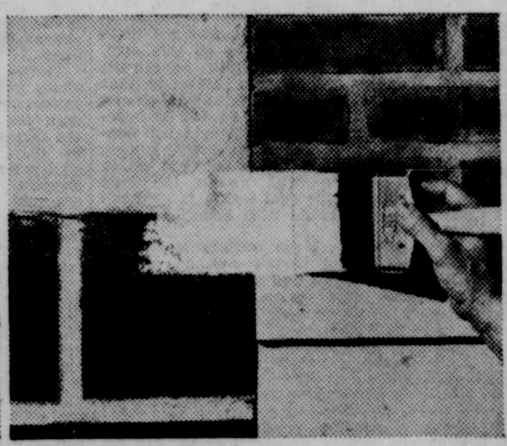
Now you can have incredible durability without the temporary surface shine of oil-base paints. The beautiful low-lustre surface of LUCITE forms a tough, durable shield that is just naturally more resistant to cracking, chalking, dirt, and fading than oil-base paint. And when you see how easy it is to use, you'll never go back to "hard work" paint.



Flows on easily, effortlessly. New LUCITE House Paint is so easy to use, it literally flows from your brush. Spreads smoothly and evenly, with no tiring brush "drag" to slow you down. Stays put, too. Won't streak or run.

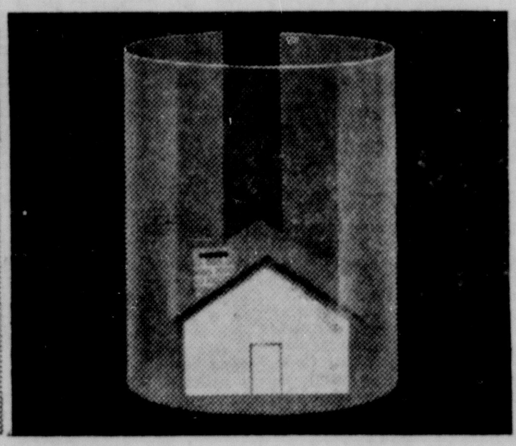


Dries to touch in half an hour. New LUCITE dries so fast you can apply a second coat, if desired, after an hour. What a time-saver! Fast drying prevents bugs and dust from marring the finished surface, as well.

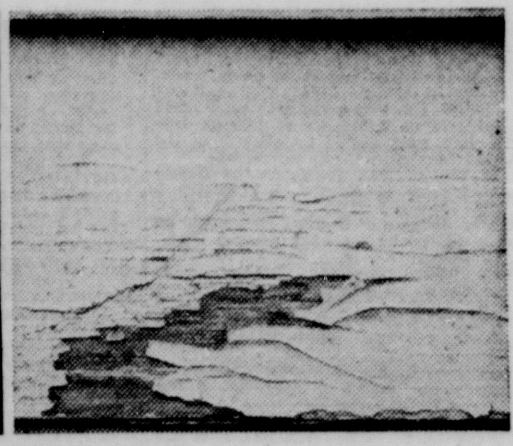


Covers almost any building material. Use LUCITE on wood, brick, masonry, stucco, cement block. Needs no primer, if old paint is in good shape. Goes on over damp surfaces, too, so there's no delay from dew or showers.

Quick and easy cleanup. Clean brushes, rollers and hands with soap and water. LUCITE can be thinned with water, too. No mess or bother with special solvents. Fresh paint spots wipe up with a damp sponge.



Protects like a plastic shield. Durable low-lustre finish dries to a tough shield against weather extremes. The beauty of new Du Pont LUCITE House Paint lasts for years. Whites stay white. Modern colors resist fading.



For special peeling and blistering problems that ordinary oil-base paint can't solve, try LUCITE. For blistered portion of home, remove old paint down to bare wood, apply coat of Du Pont 49 Primer, then apply LUCITE.

Industrial Production Growing

Washington — Industrial production, one of the key yardsticks for measuring the nation's economic health, reached a new high in April for the second straight month, the Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday.

The index, based on output of mines, mills and factories, reached 122.4% of the 1957-59 average in April, compared with 120.6 in March. The board said production of materials increased substantially in April while output of finished products rose slightly.

Auto assemblies remained at the high rate prevailing since mid-1962 and production of television sets and some other home goods increased.

Production of commercial machinery increases somewhat while production of other types of business equipment changed little. Consumer staples remained at the March level.

Iron and steel production rose sharply and was more than one-fourth above the November-January level. This reflected in part a shift from liquidation to accumulation of inventories to hedge against a possible work stoppage, the board said.

Output of construction materials and parts for consumer goods and business equipment also continued to increase.

Among nondurable materials, the board said, newsprint consumption rose considerably following termination of newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland.

Production of coal, crude oil and chemicals also advanced.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, new construction put in place was unchanged in April. Private construction increased, reflecting a 4% rise in residential activity.

Public construction showed a decline of 6% in April.

Woman Faints

Mrs. Myrtle McIntosh, 62, of 3253 R, was held at St. Elizabeth Hospital in good condition Thursday night after she fainted in Gold's department store about 3 p.m., police reported.

Take 21 Bottles Of Pop From Muny Ball Park

Twenty-one bottles of assorted brands of pop were stolen from the concession stand at the Municipal Ball Park sometime Thursday morning, police reported.

The intruders broke 3 padlocks in getting to the pop. The pop was worth $2.05, police said, making the total loss $8.05.

Life Underwriter Meeting Is Slated

The Nebraska State Association of Life Underwriters will meet in Lincoln Friday and Saturday. The meeting will be primarily directed toward training and updating leaders in life insurance underwriting and presenting new ideas.

A leadership training congress will be held Friday, followed by a sales congress on Saturday.

Bahensky Says He'll Vote 'Nay' On Income Tax

Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul, who had been regarded as one of the uncommitted senators on the state income tax bill, LB612, said Thursday he now plans to vote against the measure.

Bahensky voted with the majority April 30 when the Unicameral voted 25-18 against killing the measure.

LB612 currently rests on general file, ostensibly to remain there until the biennial budget bills has been received and discussed, although Red Cloud Sen. Kenneth Bowen, introducer of the bill, has reported he will seek to call the bill up for disposition earlier.

With the Legislature apparently split fairly evenly on the bill, senators who apparently will swing the crucial weight include Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Harold Stryker of Rising City, Frank Nelson of O'Neill and Cecil Craft of North Platte.

Projector Taken

An opaque copy projector worth $200 was taken from Bennett Martin Public Library at 14th and N, police reported Thursday. Charles Dalrymple, city libraries director, said the projector had no resale value and surmised a student may have stolen it, according to police reports.

Stock Market Mixed, Lower

New York (AP) — A rallying stock market ran into more offerings than it could handle and ended irregularly lower Thursday. Trading was quite active.

The ability of the list to push forward for most of the session despite large blocks of stock for sale was an illustration of its underlying strength, market analysts said, but the strength finally gave out.

Persistent profit-taking in the final hour dragged the averages lower.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed with a loss of 1.50 at 722.84.

Volume was 5.61 million shares compared with 5.65 million Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .3 to 273.2, with industrials down .7, rails down .1, and utilities down .1.

Of 1,335 issues traded, 624 declined and 460 advanced. Highs for the year totaled 134 and lows 11.

Among the 15 most-active stocks, however, gainers were in the majority, totaling 9, while 4 declined and 2 were unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices moved irregularly lower.

Chrysler's new, split stock topped the list for the second straight day, failing to keep a gain and closing unchanged at 56½ on 153,600 shares.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Decline Continues On Grain Market

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market extended its almost general downward trend into a third consecutive day on the Board of Trade Thursday with all contracts of soybeans, rye and new crop wheat declining a cent or more a bushel.

Corn and oats eased mostly minor fractions. The expiring May wheat contract was in fairly good demand late on short covering and ended well ahead.

Three of the 4 new crop wheat contracts traded at season lows as speculators seemed to prefer outright liquidation. Demand was thin even at the setbacks and prices closed at or near the lows of the day.

Reports of additional rainfall in parts of the major producing area again were bearish factors in the soybean pit.

Wheat closed 1½ cents a bushel higher to 1½ lower, May $2.05-05¼; corn ¼-⅝ lower, May $1.20⅝-¾; oats ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower, May 69⅝ cents; rye ⅞-1⅜ lower, May $1.26⅛; soybeans 1⅛-1½ lower, May $2.60-60¼.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Scientific Research Hastens Changes In Business Picture

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

New dimensions of foresight are required for optimum long term investment results in the coming decade of tremendously more rapidly paced technological change.

Rukeyser

The quantity and quality of scientific study and applied research, partly endowed by the massive appropriations of the Defense Department, will compress into a relatively short period changes of greater moment that occurred in quieter past eras in a century.

Accordingly, in the selection of enterprises to back with saved funds, seasoning, though still important, is not enough. Past performance—a satisfactory batting average of top managerial decisions—may indeed give a clue to future results, but in addition it is important for the management team to know where it wants to go.

It takes considerable technical know how to be aware of major scientific trends as the creative mind is remaking the world in which we live. A major management function nowadays is to direct the general directions and quantity of research efforts, and to build up a competent and creative technical staff.

Charles B. Thornton, originally one of the post-war Whiz Kids at the Ford Motor Company and now chairman and chief executive of Litton Industries, Inc., let his hair down in discussing the task of management in this new space age in a talk before the New York Society of Financial Analysts. Thornton pointed out that since 1950 more technological changes have been made than in all previous history. And the appropriations for bringing change by research will be stepped up rapidly during the coming decade. At present 75% of all the creative research is done or contracted for by government agencies. Thornton, who is intimately in touch with the movement, expressed the view that, after a time lag, most of the resultant military technology will be applicable to civilian goods.

Thornton emphasized that, in the surge of rapid change, management and its methods will quickly become obsolete unless there is a continuous effort to develop new concepts growing out of the scientific revolution.

In setting standards for his own corporate group and in indicating criteria used in measuring management in other companies which are investigated for possible mergers, Thornton stressed demonstrated capability in research and in the design and marketing of products resulting from such efforts.

"When we look at companies to buy," the executive stated, "the last thing we examine is the financial statement. We ask whether management is still working or whether the officers have become executives. We inquire into what selections of new products have been made, and how well they have been merchandised. No one is perfect, so we look at the batting average. Management should make some mistakes; otherwise the parade of progress will pass it by.

"Sometimes we are asked why we occasionally acquire existing companies. By doing so, we gain time. We get there sooner."

In dramatizing the importance of the forward look, Thornton pointed out that many of the old buggy companies had a wonderful record of past earnings, but, he added, they lacked "vision." He commented: "They weren't going anywhere." He added: "Management will get into difficulty if it is not continuously reviewing and revising policies and reorienting itself to changing trends and developing new visions."

In applying these views to his own company in the electronics and related fields, Thornton said that as early as a decade ago management formulated goals to be reached by 1970 or sooner. He said "we visualized our objectives, which were oriented to scientific developments." The executive reported that we have not yet reached our goals; we are not yet even in midstream; but the company is always changing and growing.

Litton now has 5 major groups, producing more than 200 product lines and 5,000 individual items. Thornton indicated that his management philosophy was to avoid revolutionary changes through evolving in accordance with a long term plan.

Thornton debunked success propaganda and cited examples of mistakes his company had made. In this connection, I have always respected Bernard M. Baruch, the financier; in his autobiography, this wizard relates the blunders he has made. Only charlatans claim perfection, but success in life is related to a practical batting average which records skill in crucial decision-making.

The practical implications behind Thornton's presentation was that the day of opportunity was not yet behind us. He implied that some enterprises were destined to show extraordinary growth in the future. In conferring with the security analysts, the industrialists did not minimize the difficulty of selecting those fated for outstanding performance. But there was a clear suggestion that the venturesome investor, in looking to a rapidly changing future, ought to exercise care in selecting men to back. Thornton's dissection of the new era of flux emphasized that investing for growth is far from a riskless adventure.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

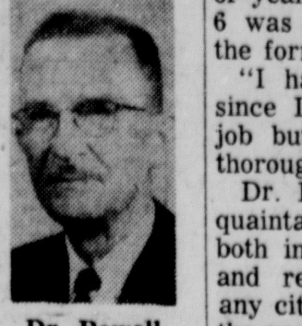
Professor Who Advised Med Students Retiring

Dr. Eugene F. Powell, a soft-spoken biology professor who has helped two generations of Nebraska physicians plan their medical study programs, is retiring from the University of Nebraska in August after 40 years of continuous service.



Dr. Powell

A native of Ohio, Dr. Powell joined the university staff in 1923, the year he received his master's degree from the University of Michigan and after his undergraduate studies at Ohio Wesleyan had been interrupted by overseas service during World War I.

As a teacher of zoology and anatomy, Dr. Powell soon found himself fielding questions from premedical students and from others intent on making careers in the life sciences.

"In recent years," he said, "some of the students have been the sons and daughters of those I worked with in the '30's and 40's."

In 1945, Dr. Powell was given the official title of premedical student adviser and since 1956 has also advised students at the College of Medicine in Omaha. A couple of years ago a committee of 6 was established to handle the formal advising program.

"I have gained 15 pounds since I was relieved of that job but I enjoyed the work thoroughly," Dr. Powell said.

Dr. Powell has a vast acquaintance with medical men both in and out of Nebraska and reports that in almost any city he visits he can find the name of a former student or advisee in the telephone book—physicians, nurses, medical technologists, or biologists.

Dr. Powell received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1937 and has been active in the Nebraska Academy of Sciences and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is a member of Sigma Xi, sciences national honorary society, and has written several professional papers.

Upon his retirement from the University, Dr. Powell will serve as a visiting professor at Wartburg College, Waverly, Ia.

Health Dept. Withdraws Its Fund Request

The City-County Health Department withdrew Thursday its request for an additional $3,500 for mosquito surveillance work this summer.

Dr. G. R. Underwood, health director, advised the city and county that the $6,000 recently appropriated will be used for both surveillance and mosquito control work to Sept. 1.

The director said $3,512 is proposed for surveillance work, leaving the balance of the appropriation, including a $300 carryover, for the interim control program.

Letter To Clarify

Dr. Underwood said his latest letter was to clarify the program outlined at an April 9 meeting and withdraw the request for an additional $3,500.

He said some insecticide and larvacide supplies must be deleted from the control program under the $6,000 ceiling, but that "extracurricular control work" can be undertaken with the aid of property owners and various governmental agencies.

Richard DeVries has been employed to coordinate the interim control program using available equipment and labor of the city and county and to develop a preliminary 1963-64 budget for a long-range, permanent mosquito control program.

Game Areas Get Bigger, Revised Upkeep System

An expanded and revised system of maintenance on Game Commission areas will soon be in operation, Game Commission Director Mel Steen announced Thursday.

Three new maintenance crews will be added to existing forces to bring the total number to 8. Headquarters for the expanded operation will be in Gering, Chadron, Bassett, Bloomfield, Lincoln, Grand Island, North Platte and McCook.

These offices will be responsible for day-to-day housekeeping duties at all Game Commission areas within a 50-mile radius that do not have resident personnel. Unmanned areas outside the 8 regions are being placed under local contract.

Paul Husted of Lincoln has been added to the commission staff to supervise and coordinate the new system.

"This improved maintenance activity is a direct result of the .30 mill levy for parks that was passed by the 1961 Legislature," Steen said.

Peace Corps Recruiters Due At NU

A team of high-level Peace Corps officials will arrive in Lincoln Sunday night to begin a concentrated week of recruiting on the University of Nebraska campus.

Robert Bryan, assistant to the Peace Corps chief of public information, said Nebraska is one of 7 universities to get the intensive recruiting treatment in an attempt to fill the growing need for Corpsmen.

Heading the team will be Dr. Joseph A. Gallagher, chief medical officer for the corps.

Others will include David Dichter, program operations officer for a large area of Asia; Elmer Skold, a special assistant; Samuel V. Stiles Jr., management analyst, and Harriett K. Parsons, program analyst. Already here is Rogers B. Finch, chief of university relations.

Shorter Exam

With special headquarters at the university's Student Union, the Peace Corps personnel will be on hand to answer questions, conduct interviews and give the qualifying examination (shortened now to one hour).

Processing of each application will begin immediately in Lincoln with the hope of being able to tell each applicant within two weeks whether he qualifies, Bryan said.

In addition the team members will visit in organized houses and make other appearances.

High Response

The University of Nebraska was chosen because of a "high ratio" of response for Peace Corps in the past, Bryan said. However he stresses that the team is not just interested in students—"there is no age limit and we take some people who have no college training."

With 4,100 corpsmen overseas now, there is still a need much greater than can be met by present applications, Bryan said.

He added that in spite of the shortage the corps did not want to lower standards "because if we did they couldn't do the job properly overseas."

Premier Fanfani Resigns

Rome (UPI) — Premier Amintore Fanfani's "center-left" government, billed at its birth last year as a turning point in Italian history, resigned Thursday night in the wake of huge Communist election gains.

The Christian Democratic premier, who had been under heavy fire because of his party's election losses to the Reds and Liberals, submitted his government's resignation to President Antonio Segni after a 5-minute cabinet meeting.

President Segni, as customary, did not make an immediate decision on Fanfani's resignation, which touched off an expected new Italian government crisis.

But he was expected to accept it next week after consulting with political leaders and to appoint soft-spoken Christian Democratic Party secretary Aldo Moro as the new premier.

The new government appeared likely to be based outwardly on the same center-left formula as Fanfani's but to be far less tender toward the Socialists of Pietro Nenni. It was expected to demand that Nenni's Socialists break off all ties with the Communists.

Fanfani's government was a coalition of his Christian Democrats with the Social Democrats and Republicans. The Nenni Socialists were not part of the cabinet but supported the government in parliament.

Harrison Has Total Control Of Bauer Co.

Herbert Harrison, president of the Bauer Fine Chocolats Inc., Lincoln candy firm, announced that he has bought total control of the company.

Harrison, a Lincoln businessman, purchased the interests of his former partners, Les C. Rau, Ray Frohn and Gilbert G. (Gib) Hanson.

Harrison said no replacements have been named for the positions the former partners held in the firm.

The group had purchased the Bauer firm in December from its founder, Raymond Bauer, for approximately $500,000.

The firm has 40 to 45 employes, and markets its candy products nationally.
